Heavy Snowfall Hits Erie; More Reported on Way

Nine Inches Measured; Record 15 Inches Called 'Possible'

By UNITED PRESS

Erie residents plowed through nine inches of snow this morning and the weather bureau predicted that three to six inches of new snow will fall before the day is out.

The snow, which swept out of the west across Ohio, blanketed a wide area of Northwestern Pennsylvania in addition to Erie—hitting Crawford, Warren, Forest, Clarion and sections of adjoining counties. The weather bureau reported snow as far south as Franklin and Slippery Rock with five inches at Meadville and Warren, four inches near Clarion and Wilcox and three inches near Tionesta Dam.

Erie weather forecaster Arvid S. Klemetsmo said there was a "possibility" that the record of 15.4 inches of snow for this date set in 1901 would be broken.

At 9:30 a.m. the snow was still falling in the city. Main roads and most secondary routes were clear but some highways were slippery and slushy. The state Highway Department said some parts of the county experienced a 10 inch fall. Snow plows and other equipment were used throughout the night.

The snow originated from a disturbance near northeastern Arkansas and southwestern Missouri and swept to northwestern Pennsylvania. En route the storm dumped six to eight inches of snow in Cleveland and northern Ohio. The weather bureau expected a total of 10 inches in the belt including Cleveland and Ashtabula.

The spring racing meets at Ascot Park, Akron, Ohio were postponed until Wednesday.

Three Allegheny Airlines flights were cancelled out of Erie and Capitol cancelled out a flight because electronic equipment was damaged by snow.

Last Thanksgiving Eve was buried under a 24-inch snow one of the worst on record.

The springlike atmosphere in Pennsylvania the last few days was marred by cloudy, cool and

A Donora fireman, Jos. Glaros of 913 Heslep avenue, Donora, suffered multiple fractures of the right toe and ankle while answering a fire alarm yesterday afternoon.

He was treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and then transferred to West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh. He is in good condition, it was said.

Glaros was answering a field fire alarm on Pine street in Cement City when the accident happened. He had just stepped off the truck when a vehicle, driven by Joe Rozick, of 304 South McKean avenue, backed over his foot.

The fire resulted in no damage.

Area Hospitals Reported on Accredited List

Monongahela Memorial Hospital and 38 other district hospitals are on the annual list of accredited institutions published today by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Charleroi-Monessen Hospital was not listed because of a minor technicality.

Russell Stone, administrator said the hospital now is in the process of correcting the technicality. He said there is "no question" the hospital will be on the next list.

District hospitals include:

Latrobe, D. T. Watson Home for Crippled Children, McKeesport, Ohio Valley General, Citizens General, Sewickley Valley, Providence, Beaver Falls, Braddock General, Brownsville General, Butler County Memorial, Westmoreland, Homestead, Allegheny Valley, Columbia, Woodville, Armstrong County Memorial, Monongahela Memorial.

Motorcycle Slams Into Windows at Dry Goods Store

A series of vehicular accidents happened in Monessen over the weekend, police reported today.

One involved a motorcycle about 1:40 this morning.

Police said the vehicle driven by Robert Gido, of 800 Opie St., Monessen, was traveling west on Donner Ave. when it skidded on abandoned streetcar rails and crashed into the front of Gorman's Dry Goods Store at 404 Donner avenue, breaking two large plate glass windows and damaging a section of the store.

The driver, it was said, leaped off the machine before it struck the establishment. He suffered an injured knee.

Calvin Shaffer, of 525 Speers St., Belle Vernon, was traveling east on Schoonmaker Ave. near 11th St. about 2:30 yesterday morning when he was involved in a four-car accident.

The Shaffer machine struck a car driven by Theadroid Harris of

UAW for Watchdog Committee

ATLANTIC CITY (UP) — The United Auto Workers Union considers today a stiff new ethical practices resolution and a recommendation for a public watchdog committee to back President Walter Reuther's demand for a clean example in the face of rackets disclosures in other unions.

Reuther told 3,000 convention delegates, representing some million and a half union members, Sunday that he had been advised by Senate Rackets Committee Chairman John L. McClellan that it had found no basis for investigation of the UAW.

The convention was scheduled to take up both the ethical practices resolution — which pledges support to the Senate investigators — and the special committee recommendation after a morning address by A. J. Hayes, president of the International Assn. of Machinists.

Proposes Grievance Group

Joseph A. Bierne, president of the Communication Workers of America, was to address the afternoon session.

Reutner opened the convention Sunday with a speech sharply rebuking labor racketeers and demanding that labor clean its own house with a stout broom before "reactionaries" move in to chop down the house with an ax. He called for legislation which would find a bribing employer as guilty as a bribe-taking union official and "put them both in jail for about 15 years and give them plenty of time to talk it over among themselves."

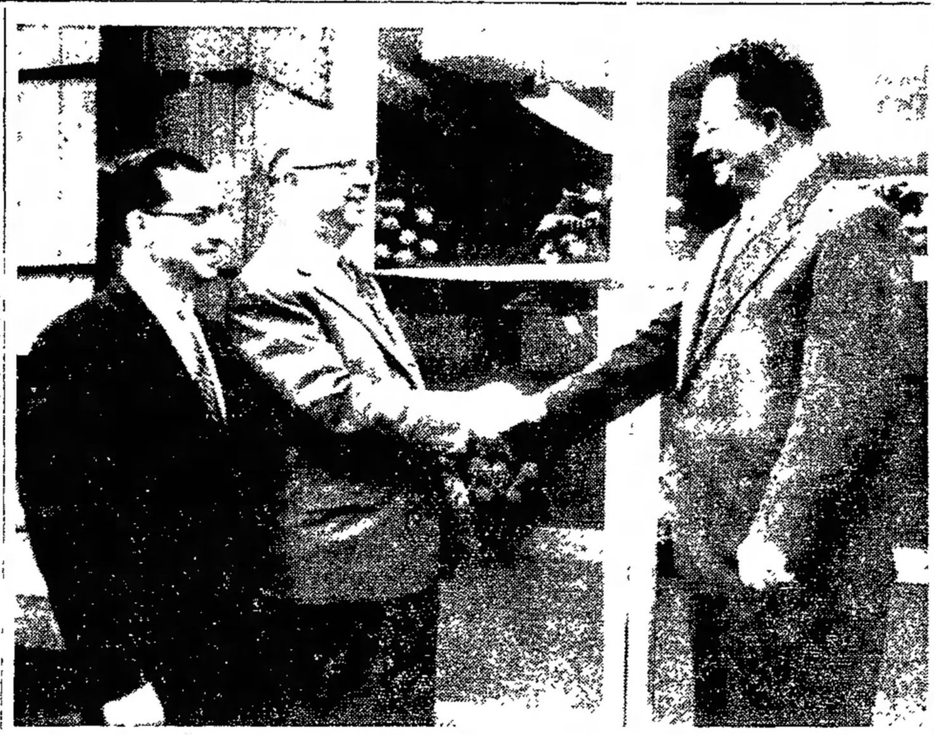
Reuther has proposed a seven-man public committee to hear grievances against his own union. Names of six proposed members were made known before formal presentation of the proposal today. They would be Rabbi Morris Adler of Detroit; Msgr. George Higgins of the National Catholic Welfare Board, Washington; Dr. Clark Kerr, chancellor of the University of California; Dr. Edwin Witte of the University of Wisconsin; Judge Wade H. McCree of the Circuit Court of Detroit, and Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington.

The 16-point ethical practices resolution commends the union leaders for setting up "such a public review board, acting as a public watchdog in our union".

The ethical practices resolution supports the principles of the Fifth Amendment and the rights of an individual to use it in evading testimony. But it states that the UAW believes no person in a position of labor leadership should be permitted to continue in such position if he uses the amendment to avoid testimony bearing on his personal conduct as relating to direct corruption or Communism.

Authority to Meet

There will be a meeting tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. of the Monessen Parking and Municipal Authority in the City Building, it was announced today by Harold Cramer, chairman.



OPEN HOUSE AT NEW FAYETTE CITY BANK — Many Fayette City residents attended open house celebration at the new Fayette City bank Saturday afternoon and night. Taking part in the ceremonies were (l. to r.) Louis DeMay, assistant cashier and manager of the Fayette City office of Gallatin National Bank; Paul Malone, Gallatin president and John Camigiani, president of Fayette City Council.

BANK OPENS OFFICIALLY THIS MORNING — Two of the first customers when the bank opened its doors this morning were Mrs. Stella Pavlish and Stephen Vesely. Tellers are Barbara Stefko, left, and Mrs. Evelyn Hopson.

New Fayette City Bank Is Opened for Business Today

The first bank in Fayette City in 30 years opened for business this morning.

Prior to opening the doors, officials of the new Fayette City office of the Gallatin National Bank held open house Saturday from 1 to 9 p. m.

The financial institution was officially welcomed at a reception in the Borough's community center Saturday afternoon and evening. The reception included entertainment and refreshments.

A number of the community's businessmen joined in the celebration by placing large welcome signs on their establishments.

Tours Conducted

John Camigiani, Sr., a member of the Borough Council for the past 20 years and its present president, officially opened the bank office at 1 p. m. Saturday by cutting the ribbon across the new front door before a large crowd. He was assisted in the ceremonies by Paul Malone, Gallatin Bank president, and Louis DeMay, assistant cashier who will be in charge of the Fayette City bank.

Immediately afterwards the townspeople were conducted through the bank. The latest types of banking and office equipment were demonstrated.

Adult visitors were supplied with souvenirs. There were balloons for the children.

DeMay, under whose direction the Fayette City office will function, has been a Gallatin Bank employee since 1951, when he began his service with the institution's Uniontown office. He was later in charge of the bank's Republic branch and in 1956 became manager of the Gallatin installment loan department in Brownsville.

According to Malone, establishment of the Fayette City facility is direct evidence of the progressive spirit of the community and its residents. In the opinion of the bank's management, concrete evi-

Karen Duda to Represent Area In NFL Finals

Karen Duda, a Monessen High School junior, will represent Western Pennsylvania in the National Forensic League finals to be held June 25-28 at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

Miss Duda became eligible for the national finals by winning the Western Pennsylvania finals held Saturday at Donora High School. She won the extemporaneous speaking division. She was presented a trophy.

Another Monessen High School student, Ann Hutchinson, a sophomore, won second place in the oratorical division. Carolyn Sedey, local NFL director, announced today.

Andrea Victim Is Ill in Uniontown

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Mrs. Sullivan Grego, injured in the collision of the liners Andrea Doria and Stockholm last year, was reported in serious condition today at Uniontown Hospital.

Mrs. Grego, a passenger aboard the Doria, fell from a rope ladder into a lifeboat while being removed from the sinking Italian liner. The Uniontown woman had been a patient at a Newark, N.J. hospital.

Bus Driver Killed

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UP)—The trailer broke loose from a big truck and smashed into a school bus today, killing the bus driver and injuring 8 to 10 pupils.

Egypt Warning That Ship Will Be 'Destroyed'

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli officials said today they would go ahead with plans to send a test ship through the Suez Canal despite a Cairo warning that any such ship would be "destroyed on the spot."

The Egyptian warning was printed in the Cairo weekly Akhbar Elyom and was directed at Israeli ships seeking to use either the Suez Canal or the Gulf of Aqaba.

United Nations salvage vessels removed the Egyptian Frigate Abukir, the last obstacle blocking the Suez Canal, from the harbor at Port Said today and started towing it northward toward the Great Bitter Lakes. The Abukir will technically be considered an obstruction until it is sunk — out of the main channel — in the lakes around 11 p.m. (4 p.m. est).

Israel still was celebrating the arrival of an American tanker at Eilat this weekend — the first American vessel to sail through the Straits of Tiran since Egypt imposed a blockade in 1948.

The tanker, the 10,000-ton Kern Hills with 16,000 tons of oil, passed through the straits without incident and began unloading its oil at Israel's new port of Eilat while the nation celebrated.

Israeli officials expressed cautious hope the passage of the tanker would lead the Arabs to relax their economic boycott but they proceeded with plans to develop the port city and to build a pipeline to bypass the Suez Canal.

But Israel was keeping a wary eye on Egypt and Saudi Arabia. Official sources have expressed fear that Egypt would ask the U.N. emergency forces to leave the Tiran area and try to impose another blockade.

The answer to that has been Israel's assertion it would shoot its way through the straits.

However Israeli sources said no such drastic action was planned on the test of the Suez Canal. The sources said more likely Israel would send a ship to the canal and if it were halted or captured Israel would lodge a vigorous protest with the U.N. Security Council.

Egypt moved meanwhile to reopen the Suez Canal formally, and as it did so the nation entered a period of full defense alert against any form of "aggression." Air raid drills were held in Cairo, Alexandria and the canal zone and Cairo newspapers warned Israel to stop talking about war.

A number of convoys already have transited the canal, but the waterway will not be declared formally opened until the last obstacle, the sunken frigate Abukir, is removed from Suez harbor.

Two Brownsville Teenagers Spend Hours in Cave

Two Brownsville teenagers were lost for eight hours yesterday in the myriad caverns of Dulany's Cave near Uniontown.

They were found by search parties about 11:30 last night. They were identified as George Davis, 17, and Gary Depto.

Rescuers found the boys about a half-mile inside the cave. The missing pair was hungry and tired, but unhurt.

Firemen in the search party thoughtfully had carried food into the cave in the hope of finding the lads and providing them nourishment.

Davis and Depto were among a group of five boys who entered the cave about 3 p. m.

Sources said the boys engaged in a game of hide-and-seek. Soon two, Davis and Depto, became separated from the rest and were unable to find their way out of the cave.

The remaining three, after minutes of frenzied searching, rushed down the mountain and notified Hopwood firemen, their nearest hope for aid.

The cave is located about seven miles south of Uniontown, in the hills east of Fairchance. Innumerable passages inside the cave were combed by the rescuers before they found the adventurers.

Two Fights on Local Streets Over Weekend

Two street fights occurred in Monessen Saturday afternoon, one near 12th St. and the other on Schoonmaker Ave. between Fifth and Sixth Sts., police said today.

Police were called to break up a fight involving four out-of-town youths near 12th St. Patrolman Joseph Ezzo dispersed the group and recommended them.

His scolding went unheeded, however, as the youths moved about 50 yards away and began fighting again. This time Ezzo hauled them off to jail.

Arrested and booked on disorderly conduct charges were Ronald Sweeney, 17, of Stockdale; William Morgan, of Lock Four; Charles Prentice, 17, and Robert Majerchak, 16, both of Charleroi.

In the other tussle, a window was broken at Pano's Restaurant at 525 Schoonmaker Ave. Involved and charged with disorderly conduct were George Lukacs, of 1208 Knox Ave. and Michael Yeletz, of 528 Summit Ave.

Radioactive Rain Reported in Japan

TOKYO (UP)—Unusually strong radioactivity was detected in rain which fell on southern Japan this weekend and weather officials said today it was caused by a nuclear test held somewhere "recently."

Officials said they did not have enough scientific proof to attribute it to the Soviet's latest experiment announced by British and the United States last week.

Polio Shots for Bellmar Students

Free polio vaccine will be administered tomorrow morning beginning at 9 o'clock to students at Bellmar High School and North Belle Vernon elementary school.

The Fayette County section of the Bellmarette Joint School District will be immunized as soon as additional vaccine is available.

Tarentum Publisher Hits Litter Ordinance

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Eugene A. Simon, publisher of the Tarentum Valley News, testified today that enforcement of a New Kensington, Pa., anti-litter ordinance would block his newspaper's efforts to build circulation in the New Kensington area.

The Valley News is leading a court fight against the ordinance, adopted last month by the New Kensington city council. Westmoreland County Judge Richard D. Lauer issued a preliminary injunction against the ordinance two weeks ago and heard arguments today on whether the injunction should be made permanent.

Simon, testifying through most of the morning session of the hearing, described the newspaper's plans to publish a New Kensington-Arnold edition. He said contracts had been signed for additional newsprint supplies and for advertising by New Kensington merchants prior to passage of the ordinance.

In addition to restricting the distribution of handbills, the ordinance would limit free samples of newspapers to four issues a month with deliveries to be completed by 7 p.m. each day.

The Tarentum publisher said his company had spent about $28,000 for new equipment and hired more than 100 persons including carriers in anticipation of issuing a New Kensington edition of about 12,000 circulation. The Valley News, which also publishes the Kiski and Allegheny Valley editions, this would move into direct competition with another daily, the New Kensington Dispatch.

Simon testified that year-long negotiations and discussions concerning the New Kensington edition came to a head last Nov. 26 when he met with merchants on a

Heavy Toll of Lives in Series Of Air Crashes

By UNITED PRESS

A series of plane mishaps in this country and abroad, including the crash of a high altitude experimental jet plane in the eastern Nevada desert, has claimed a heavy toll of lives.

At least 47 persons were reported killed in the recent crashes, 40 of them in an airline disaster at Bage, Brazil.

The wreckage of an experimental Air Force jet, identified as a Lockheed U2, was sighted Sunday after a three-day search which covered thousands of square miles over a three-state area.

Lockheed officials said the highly secret jet crashed Thursday while on a flight to "test its adaptability for extended weather reconnaissance of interest to the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics and the U S Air Force."

Lockheed test pilot, Robert L Sieker of Granda Hills, Calif., was killed in the crash.

At Bage, Brazil, a Varig Airlines plane crashed moments after takeoff Sunday.

Among the dead in the crash were the pilot, Commander Fernando Silva Leandro, a veteran with more than 5,600 flying hours with Varig; and Brazilian educator Liberato Salzano Cunha and his wife.

A six-jet B47 bomber, said by the Air Force to be "miles off course" slammed into a Hawaiian mountain top Sunday while making an instrument approach landing to Hickham Air Force Base, killing all four crew members.

The aircraft and crew of four were assigned to the 96th Bomb Wing at Altus, Okla., Air Force Base. The victims were identified as: Capt. Don N. Rogers, 1st Lt. Frank R. Clausi, S. Sgt. Haskell E. Gray, and 1st Lt. Sherman Bozeman Jr.

The bodies of an Independence, Mo. couple, missing since taking off in bad weather from St Louis on March 31, were found Saturday.

Their single - engine light plane had crashed in a wheat field a few thousand feet from the end of a runway at the seldom-used Chillicothe, Mo., airport.

John Touhey and his wife Margaret, had been the objects of a wide search for the past week, until their charred bodies were found in the ruins of their plane.

Rattlesnake Hunt Held in Oklahoma; 957 Are Caught

OKEENE, Okla. (UP)—More than 500 heavily clothed adventurers poked through the hills around Okeene Sunday with forked sticks in the annual disturbance of the local rattlesnake population.

Neither cold weather nor approaching snow could deter the International Assn. of Rattlesnake Hunters in their annual foray into the Gypsum Hills of Salt Creek Canyon.

The hunters got 987 snakes. The snakes got one hunter. Eldon Buddy Martin, 17, of Okeene, who was expected to recover fully.

Some 18,000 rattlesnake fans showed up for the hunt, of whom 527 were registered hunters. Sixteen states and Switzerland were represented.

The total of 957 snakes hauled in weighed approximately 1,500 pounds. Last year, during warm weather, about 2,500 were caught.

PRR Executive, John Webb, Dies

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — John L. Webb, 67, an executive of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died Sunday of a heart attack at his home in suburban Merion, Pa.

Webb joined the road in 1908 as a ticket agent in Scottdale, Pa., and retired April 1 as manager of freight stations and motor service.

He was credited with leadership in many improvements in the operation of freight stations, and in the development of motor service for the railroad.

He was made station and transfer clerk in 1918 at Pittsburgh, and a few months later was transferred to Philadelphia as assistant supervising agent of the terminal division.

Students Deny Throwing Eggs

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Four Villanova University juniors, all from New York, were released Sunday after denying charges of throwing eggs at singer Elvis Presley.

The students were identified as William Quinn, 20, New York City; William B Oates, 21, Brooklyn James Stark, 20, Greensport, N.Y., and John Eidt, 20, New York City.

Police said an egg was found in Quinn's jacket when he and his friends were arrested at the arena last Friday, during a Presley performance.

The rock 'n' roll artist was in middle of a number when about six eggs came flying from the balcony. None of the eggs hit the hip-swinging singer, although one landed on his "gitter" which had been set aside for the number.

Geography Group to Meet on Wednesday

The final meeting of the Washington County Geography Study Group for this school term will be held Wednesday in the New Carroll Township Junior High School, Carroll Township.

Should the Insane Criminal 'Get Away' with His Act?

NEW YORK (UP) — Should a mentally ill criminal be allowed to "get away" with his act by going to a hospital instead of jail? Who decides that the man is ill? And should a judge ignore the advice of medical experts and order such a man to trial?

The celebrated case of the "mad bomber" of Manhattan has suddenly become a classic example of this dilemma which increasingly plagues courtrooms at a time when crime, mental illness and pleas of insanity are all rising.

The mad bomber, meek-looking little George Metesky, 53, planted some 50 bombs in such public places as movie houses and railroad stations to avenge a grievance against an electrical company. Fifteen persons were injured by the explosions over a 16-year period until Metesky's capture last January 21.

Confirm Suspicions

All New York took it for fact that the mad bomber was indeed mad. How else to explain his dangerous acts of vengeance against innocent bystanders, the fact that he invited his own capture by exchanging open letters with a newspaper, that he smiled when accused of attempted murder, looked bored during courtroom proceedings and seemed to relish all the publicity?

A panel of three psychiatrists confirmed the public's suspicions. They pronounced Metesky a mentally split personality who should be in a hospital.

But to everyone's astonishment Manhattan General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen ordered the bachelor bomber to stand trial on a 47-count indictment including attempted murder.

In the eyes of the law, the question is not whether the doctors consider the bomber mentally ill. It is whether he knew what he was doing.

"Doctors can give evidence and opinions," one legal expert told United Press. "But the judge is supreme. He must apply the doctors' knowledge to the legal system. The psychiatrists can only give their diagnoses. A man can be insane to them but still be sane in the eyes of the law."

The rule applied to all such cases dates back to the 19th Century McNaughton case in Britain. It says that a person should not be found guilty or sent to prison unless he understands the "nature and quality", or seriousness, of his act.

As interpreted by one legal expert this would mean "did the bomber realize he was planting bombs or did he think they were lampshades?"

Mullen himself asked if Metesky thought he was planting bombs or apples. The judge decided, after hearing Metesky was able to discuss the charge of attempted murder, that the bomber was "sane enough" to stand trial—that, even though he was mentally deranged, he understood his acts.

The defense vowed to fight the ruling but meanwhile, a tragic new piece of evidence came to light. The doctors said the bomber was seriously ill from a contagious form of tuberculosis which could prove fatal. The question of insanity could become insignificant.

proposal for distribution of his newspaper there. He said nearly 40 New Kensington merchants had signed contracts for advertising space.

The publisher contended it would be impossible to build up reader habit by sampling prospective subscribers only four times a month as allowed under the controversial ordinance.

A New Kensington furniture dealer, Samuel Myers, testified that he had signed an advertising contract with the Valley News prior to passage of the ordinance. He said he believed the measure would make his advertising of little value.

dence of this progress may be seen in the many recent civic improvements in the Borough, including the new community center building which figured in the welcoming ceremonies.

"Such evidence of progress, coupled with the long-range economic potential of the community and the future planning of its citizens, certainly provides us, as bankers, with a good opportunity for service," Malone said.

Complete banking service, including savings accounts, checking accounts, auto financing, personal and business loans, Christmas clubs and Vacation clubs, will be available at the Gallatin Fayette City office.

Each depositor's account will be insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a U. S. Government agency.

"It will be the object of each member of the staff to bring to Fayette City the same high type of convenient banking service which the financial institution offers at each of its community offices," according to DeMay.

Established in 1896, Gallatin Bank now maintains its headquarters at Uniontown and community offices at Brownsville, Connellsville, Dawson, Fayette City, Jefferson, New Salem Perryopolis, Point Marion and Republic. Based on 1956 year-end deposits of more than $56,000,000 the bank now ranks as the 24th largest in the state of Pennsylvania.

Tornado Sweeps Down on Town In Mississippi

By UNITED PRESS

A twister ripped a rural Mississippi community in Dixie's "tornado alley" today and storm clouds dumped heavy, wet snow on the Midwest and East.

The tornado cut a swath four miles long and ¼ mile wide near Tupelo, Miss. It destroyed one home, one barn and a machine shop and damaged other homes, but most residents had taken refuge in storm cellars and no one was reported injured.

The Weather Bureau issued tornado alerts for a broad area of the south from Louisiana northeastward to Huntington, W. Va. But it lifted the alert at mid-morning for all sections except northeast Mississippi and western Tennessee and said the danger would end there by noon e.s.t.

A belt of heavy snow fell from Illinois to New York state, and the storm forced many schools to close in northern Ohio.

The Rockies and western plains states dug out from under as much as a foot of snow left by the third spring snowstorm to hit the area in as many weeks.

Winter refused to give ground to spring. The mercury fell to seven degrees below zero at Eagle, Colo., and Denver thermometers registered a frigid nine above, a new all-time record low for April 8. It was 5 above at Cheyenne, Wyo., equalling a low set in 1875.

wet weather which will prevail for the next day or so.

But Wednesday's forecast will bring hope for sunny and warmer days. A high pressure center, now over Colorado, is expected to cover Pennsylvania Wednesday bringing warm sun with it.

However, a low pressure area centered over Missouri Monday is expected to follow a path eastward across southern Pennsylvania spreading clouds and rain or showers, and some thunderstorms, in the south, and rain in the central and northern tier sections.

Wintry weather will dominate the northern part of the state as snow, up to seven inches, is predicted. The low will move into the Atlantic Tuesday morning leaving somewhat improved conditions over most of the state. But much cloudiness is expected to linger in the mountainous western half of the state maintaining snow conditions.

The outlook for most of the state calls for cool weather becoming rather windy tonight and Tuesday. The temperatures are expected to be in the mid-50s in southeast portions today, with temperatures hanging in the upper 30s in the middle sections. Forty degrees or better will prevail over the remainder of the state.

Mystery Witness Problem

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Senate Rackets Committee scheduled a closed-door meeting today to decide what to do about a mysterious witness described as "even more recalcitrant than Dave Beck."

Simultaneously, a sharp conflict broke out over whether former Republican Chairman Leonard W. Hall asked Teamster President Beck's support for President Eisenhower's reelection campaign last year.

Arthur Condon, Beck's attorney, said Hall asked him about a month before the election to see if Beck would come out publicly for Eisenhower. Condon said he took it up with Beck who later endorsed the President.

Hall declared this "just isn't so." He said he recalled meeting with Condon, but didn't "recollect anything in the discussion concerning the campaign."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.), a member of the rackets group investigating Beck, described the conflicting statements as "confused verities." He said he knew nothing about it personally, adding, "I doubt if either political party would select Dave Beck as its political advocate at the present moment."

Mundt told a reporter the committee was called into secret session today to discuss "a witness who will not produce his books."

Mundt declined to say whether the witness would be present at today's session, or even whether he represents management or labor.

There were these other weekend developments on the rackets issue:

—Robert B. Kennedy, chief committee counsel, questioned several persons in Chicago including Nathan W. Shefferman, labor consultant for business firms and friend of Beck, who testified before the rackets committee here. Kennedy said his talk with Shefferman dealt mainly with "matters raised at committee hearings." He said the Chicago inquiry involves "management more than labor."

—Federal District Attorney Paul W. Williams said in New York that "12 or 14 grand juries" and 10 of his assistants are now investigating racketeering in New York City, but the fight against criminal elements in labor will go one for "years and years."

—Mundt said after Easter the Senate Rackets Committee will hold hearings on charges of illegal collusion by "dishonest management" and union leaders in the construction industry in New York City. He said they will involve charges of acid throwing, "goon squads" and "skull crushing."

Dulles Suggests Some Changes in Aid Handling

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles proposed today that foreign military aid be made a part of the defense budget in the future.

Dulles also recommended that a 750 million-dollar revolving fund be set up to handle foreign economic aid on a loan basis.

The secretary in testimony before a special Senate foreign aid committee proposed further that so-called "defense support" — indirect military aid—be authorized on a continuing basis. Congress would appropriate money for it annually as it does with other continuing programs.

Dulles' recommendations were viewed as the administration's answer to warnings that the foreign aid program is in real trouble among congressmen unless the administration comes up with a new approach.

The proposed switch of military aid to the defense budget would reduce the size of the foreign assistance bill. But the cut would be added to defense appropriations.

The special Senate committee is making an overall long-range study of U.S. aid programs overseas. President Eisenhower has not yet formally submitted this year's $4,400,000,000 aid program to Congress. He is expected to do so later this month.

Teenage Brawl at White Oak Quelled

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A rock 'n roll session at a White Oak Borough youth center broke up in a teen-aged riot early today with firemen finally quieting the screaming, battling youths with streams of water from their hoses.

Two patrolmen on duty at the dance fired about 15 shots into the air in a futile attempt to stop the fracas, which began just before midnight as the teenagers were leaving a record dance at the Disk Jockey Youth Center.

"There was so much noise you could hardly hear the guns going off," one of the officers reported. They said the boys were brawling and the girls stood on the sidelines shouting for their favorites.

Borough Police Chief Harry Crum said the trouble began when one youth tried to run down another boy in a parking lot near the club, located on Lincoln Way near McKeesport.

Chief Crum and two other officers rushed to the aid of the two embattled patrolmen, Frank Wagoner and Brade Mains, then called the borough's entire auxiliary force and about 50 firemen.

Flying stones and pop bottles smashed a number of car windows. Two automobiles were shoved into a creek.

Eighteen of the rioters were arrested, plus the two youths accused of starting the free-for-all, Donald Litzell, 20, Green Oak Heights, who was treated for head injuries at McKeesport Hospital, charged John Cerniglia, 20, East Liberty, tried to run him down with an automobile. Both were released under $500 bond on charges of inciting to riot. The other 18 will be given hearings on disorderly conduct charges.

Sun Oil Company Reduces Prices

The Sun Oil Company today reduced its wholesale price of gasoline by seven-tenths of a cent per gallon.

The new wholesale price is 14.6 cents per gallon, exclusive of state and federal taxes totaling 9 cents per gallon. The reduction was made to meet competitive conditions, it was said.

Fayette City. Two parked cars were also damaged. They belonged to Irene Thorpe, of 1410 Schoonmaker Ave., and Adeline Johnston, of Jacobs Creek.

The Shaffer car was towed away.

Sam Snow, Jr., of 1062 Mornap Ave., Monessen, was traveling east on Schoonmaker Ave. near Tyrol Pass when he collided with a car driven by Philip Bednar, of 208 Tyrol Pass. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon.

A car driven by Harry McDermott, of Sixth St., was pulling out of a parking place on Fourth St. about midnight when it became involved in a mishap with a machine operated by John Przemich, of 648 Second St., Monessen.

John Russell, of Fayette City, said a hit-and-run driver struck his parked car last night at Ninth St. and Donner Ave. Russell was bowling in nearby alleys about 9:30 when the accident took place.

Summerfield Expects No Postal Cuts

Hopes to Get Extra $47 Million

WASHINGTON (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield feels "very confident" that Congress will meet his demands for an extra 47 million dollars to head off drastic cuts in postal services.

He said he is "not bluffing" about his order sent to post offices across the country to begin cutting down on mail deliveries and to keep their windows closed on Saturdays, beginning April 13.

Summerfield said on a television program Sunday (Press Conference, ABC) he has been assured that if the House acts on his request this week, the Senate Appropriations Committee and the full Senate are set to move swiftly on it.

Wants Full Amount

The postal chief said he would not settle for any less than his full request for 47 million dollars.

He threatened the cuts after a House Appropriations subcommittee last week cut his request to 17 million dollars. But he postponed them for a week — they were to have gone into effect last Saturday—after the full committee agreed to take up the matter next Friday.

Summerfield said the present crisis was brought on because the appropriations committee failed to act in time. He said he had told Congress in January that his department needed 53 million dollars to tide it over until July 1 because of mountain mail demands.

He was reminded that the Budget Bureau did not pass along his request until mid-March. He replied that the bureau had a "little too much hope" that postal expenses would drop and that it delayed longer than he wanted.

Court Action Looms

The Associated Third Class Mail Users have threatened to seek court action to stop the ban against third class mail which consists chiefly of books, advertising circulars and bulk mail.

Summerfield said, however, that his department "would resist" such a suit because, "we think they are not on sound grounds."

He also said that public reaction was generally favorable to overall rate increases rather than cutbacks in any mail services. The American people, he said, want to see the postal system on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

MONESSEN PRIEST ELEVATED — The Very Rev. John Govrusik, (far right), pastor of St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox church, First St. and McKee Ave., is pictured during ceremonies last night which elevated him to the degree of Very Reverend Archpriest. His Grace Benjamin, Archbishop of Pittsburgh and West Virginia, is shown presenting Father Govrusik a gold pectoral cross, a gift from the church parishioners. Looking on at the left is Very Rev. Stephen Varzoly, of Rankin.

Safety Program Presented

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader planned to send to the Legislature today a series of administration-supported traffic safety bills, including one to legalize radar to enforce speed limits.

The governor termed the traffic safety package a "blueprint for a strong program of laws aimed at saving lives, preventing disabling injuries and materially reducing huge property losses caused by needless highway accidents in the Commonwealth."

Leader said that radar has become the best weapon in the country against the speeding menace.

"Every state in which it is legal has shown a marked reduction in traffic deaths during the first year of operation," he said. "We are not playing games. Obviously, this is a matter of life and death. Radar would provide our state police with a selective enforcement tool that is not only 100 per cent accurate, but will aid immeasurably in making our educational and enforcement traffic-safety programs more effective."

Other bills in the series call for:

—Mandatory reduced gear operation for trucks on dangerous hills.

—Control of "off-highway" glare from signs, service stations and shopping centers.

—Adequate emergency lights on school buses.

—Permission for use of red lights on snowplows, cinder trucks and school buses.

—Mandatory requirements for coroners to report fatal traffic accidents in their counties.

—Approval by the state revenue secretary of safety belts sold in the state.

—Revocation of operating privileges of a driver convicted of possession or sale of narcotics.

COUNTY CORONER IS HONORED — Some 150 persons attended a testimonial banquet held for Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, of Monessen, yesterday by the Russian-American Association, of 209 Schoonmaker Ave. The organization presented Yoney with an engraved pen and pencil set. Taking part are (l. to r.) Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka, toastmaster; Judge Edward G. Bauer, speaker: Edward Ratica, R. A. A. president; Yoney and John Pacak, banquet chairman. City and county officials attended.

Queen Elizabeth in Paris on State Visit

PARIS (UP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived today for a state visit to France and a welcome as warm as springtime in Paris.

The royal couple flew from London to Orly Field outside Paris, and then drove in elegant procession into the city to the cheers of thousands of Parisians who waved Union Jacks, Triocolors and handerchiefs in a carnival display of friendship.

The key word in the reception was "bienvenux," the French for "welcome." It was spread across newspapers and placarded in hundreds of shop windows.

The delightful April-in-Paris atmosphere gave an infectious air to the whole business. When the royal motorcade reached the Elysee Palace, the gay atmosphere even infected the Queen. She and French President Rene Coty were chatting so happily when they emerged from their car that they neglected to review the honor guard out in front and walked straight into the building.

A few minutes later, Elizabeth, her husband and Coty emerged on a second floor balcony, still chatting and laughing.

A private lunch for the Queen and the Duke followed, with a busy round of formal activities set up for the next four days of their visit.

Paris was in a gay mood for the royal couple from across the channel.

Elizabeth is the first reigning British queen who has visited France in 102 years.

The royal couple drove directly from the airport to the Elysee Palace, official residence of President Rene Coty, to sample the first of some 3,000 bottles of champagne set aside for the royal visit.

Hundreds of policemen lined the route from the airport to the palace as a precaution against possible violence by the Communists—the only sizeable group in France which was not delighted by the Queen's visit.

One disaffected Frenchman, political affiliation unknown, expressed a minority viewpoint in a message scribbled on the wall of a midtown subway station:

"Elizabeth, this means war!"

The government has spent $500,000 on preparations for the royal tour, and private enterprise has spent uncounted thousands more.

Solicitation for Cancer Crusade

Monessen merchants and professional people will be solicited for funds in behalf of the American Cancer Society, Joseph Friedland, chairman of the Business Division, announced today.

The funds will be turned over to Fred C. Stockus, assistant manager of Mellon National Bank.

Mrs. Irvin Bayer, general chairman of the Cancer Crusade in Monessen, today announced that a house-to-house canvass for funds will be conducted on May 1.

The society is seeking to raise $40,000 in Westmoreland County.

GOP to Try and Pare $100 Million from Leader's Budget

HARRISBURG (UP) — Appropriations moved into the legislative spotlight this week, with Republicans attempting to pare 100-million dollars from Gov. George M. Leader's budget requests for the next two years.

With most of the tax legislation out of the way, the leadership in both chambers of the Republican-controlled General Assembly was driving to keep their goal of final adjournment by May 30.

But Gov. George M. Leader, in a weekend statement, urged the Legislature to "get down to brass tacks" and not let any adjournment drive prevent passage of some of his major legislative proposals, including expanded civil service protection for state workers, constitutional revision, Turnpike Commission reorganization, and bills covering health, welfare and public assistance.

"To adjourn without considering every one of these vital areas of legislation would be to render our Commonwealth and our people an extreme disservice," he said. "I now urge that partisan charges and countercharges be set aside, and that together we set to work to accomplish this urgently important program."

Republicans, however, indicate that the big job ahead is to fit the state's General Fund spending for the next two years into their proposed $1,500,000,000 budget, and avoid imposition of any new taxes.

The governor proposed a $1,600,000,000 budget, entailing 108-million dollars in new taxes.

In other weekend developments, Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, outlined a seven-point program which he said should be followed in order to avoid new taxation.

They called for elimination of all new construction programs not "vitally necessary for the public welfare," and continuing all state programs at their present level, including payrolls.

The Senate will reconvene at 3 p.m. and the House at 4:30 p.m. today.

School Districts In West Newton Near Jointure

Representatives of five school districts met in West Newton on Friday to reconsider a proposed jointure in the southwestern section of Westmoreland County.

Considering the jointure possibility, which would be effective the first Monday in July according to tentative plans, are West Newton, Smithton and Sutersville boroughs and South Huntingdon and East Huntingdon townships.

Following a perliminary financial study by the administrative heads of the five districts and members of the county schools office staff, all five boards of education worked on a possible joint budget.

No action was taken by any of the boards, but one official attending the meeting said all 31 persons present appeared to be in general amenable to the proposal. No strenuous objections to proposals thus far made were offered, it was said.

Another joint meeting, primarily to consider joint board membership and other factors that would be involved if the jointure were approved, is expected to be held in the next several weeks.

Approximately three years ago, after original plans for a five-member jointure were discussed but later discarded, the three boroughs then formed their own jointure, with an invitation for the two townships to join still standing. However, that paper-jointure lasted only about two weeks and was discarded.

Railroad Tracks Are Cleared at Landslide Site

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UP)— Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Baltimore & Ohio trains moved along on two clear tracks today but motorists were resigned to a week of detour travel because of the landslide on Constitution Blvd.

Work crews cleared two main line tracks of the P & LE railroad but two other tracks and Constitution Blvd. are still covered with mud ranging to more than 10 feet in depth at some points.

The mammoth landslide Friday evening brought thousands of tons of mud down to the boulevard and four railroad tracks.

Motorists must use a 10-mile detour along Route 51 and South Heights to reach Ambridge which is just across the Ohio River from Aliquippa.

Bulldozers and cranes were used on round-the-clock to clear the railroad tracks. The Pittsburgh-Cleveland train which arrived in Aliquippa shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday was the first train in the town since Friday night.

Continuous rains Thursday and Friday loosened a hillside overlooking the boulevard and railroad tracks. Early Friday evening a wall of mud began oozing over the boulevard and pushed onto the tracks.

Seniors to 'Work' Tomorrow for Foreign Exchange

Final preparations have been made for the "Senior Work Day" program in Monessen tomorrow.

The program is a project sponsored jointly by the Monessen High School Student Council and Chamber of Commerce Education Committee.

Henry Furio, principal and chairman of the Chamber's committee, said funds realized through this project will go towards financing the foreign exchange student program sponsored annually in Monessen.

The exchange student for this school term is Swinda Waldmann, of Austria.

The "Senior Work Day" will offer the services of the senior class totaling some 200 students who will be excused from school to work for some local concern from 1 to 5 p. m. tomorrow. Under this program the students will be assigned to various stores to perform all types of chores, ranging from washing windows to sales clerks.

Their earnings will be donated to the special foreign exchange student fund.

Members of the Student Committee are Cathy Parkinson, Joan Kachmarik, Michael Mavis, Connie Arcuri, Beatrice Tobacco and Ronald D'Angelo.

Gas Attendant Faces Suspects In Cafe Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UP)— A gas station attendant faces four suspects in the bombing of a neighborhood bar today in an attempt to identify two of them as the purchasers of a lethal can of gasoline. The fuel was thrown into the cafe with a burning book of matches Thursday night and five men and a woman died in the explosive flames.

Four men who had been evicted from the Club Mecca shortly before the bombing are held on suspicion of murder.

The service station attendant, Campbell Ledgerwood, told police Sunday "I think I might have sold a couple of those fellows the gasoline used in the bombing."

Police said the four suspects have admitted they were the men ousted from the club for making a disturbance. Detective Sgt. John A. Tidyman said they "are very frightened. We expect them to crack at any time under questioning."

Those under arrest are Manuel J. Chavez, 25, Clyde Bates, 36, Oscar Brenhaug, 44, and Manuel J. Hernandez, 18.

U. S., Canada in War On Lampreys in Lakes

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Canada plan to step up their war on Lake Superior and Lake Michigan sea lampreys to have them under control by the summer of 1958.

Details of the new plans to fight the lampreys — parisitic eels that have all but destroyed commercial lake trout fishing in the Great Lakes — were made public Sunday in testimony released by a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The two countries also plan a big drive to help clear Lake Huron of the lampreys.

Money Allotted

The joint American-Canadian Great Lakes Fisheries Commission outlined a $1,417,197 program for the year beginning July 1. The United States has been asked to supply 69 per cent of the money to be used to wipe out the fish-killing eels.

William C. Herrington, fisheries and wildlife assistant to the under secretary of state, told the subcommittee that fiscal 1958 plans call for "complete control of all currently known sea lamprey spawning runs" in Lakes Superior and Michigan.

By July 1, he reported, 54 American and 35 Canadian streams draining into Lake Superior will be equipped to kill spawning lampreys. Lake Michigan will have 76 barriers, all in the United States, ready to kill off the eels, and Lake Huron will have two streams, one in each country, with lamprey barriers.

Additional Barriers

For 1958, construction and operation of 10 to 20 additional barriers are planned for Lake Superior and 31 new barriers on Lake Michigan tributaries.

On Lake Huron all 32 known lamprey spawning streams on the United States side and 26 Canadian streams will be blocked.

Herrington said the 58 barriers on Lake Huron "will be a good start for lamprey control on that lake."

The commission ultimately plans to have 104 barriers on Lake Superior, 107 on Lake Michigan and 108 on Lake Huron.

The barriers, which carry an electrical charge into the water, block lampreys as they attempt to swim upstream to spawn. Unable to spawn, the eels die.

The Postal Service Needs Overhauling

THE RUCKUS which broke out in Washington last week between the Post Office Department and a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee is serving the useful purpose of inviting public attention to the financial problems of the postal service.

Postmaster General Summerfield has requested Congress to provide an appropriation of $47 million to see the department through the remaining three months of the fiscal year. To justify the request, he cites increases in the volume of mail which were not anticipated when the original Post Office appropriation was approved.

But the subcommittee, controlled by Democrats (Mr. Summerfield, of course, is a Republican), says it will give the department only $17 million, which it says will cover increased postal salaries approved by Congress since the original appropriation. And it tells Mr. Summerfield to get along with this.

However, the Postmaster General says he can't do it and will have to curtail service if he doesn't get the full $47 million. Orders have gone to all postmasters to cutback the service beginning April 13 unless Congress comes through with the money.

That is the way the matter stands at this writing.

* * *

ASIDE from the merits of the immediate controversy, and we do not feel competent to have an opinion about them, this ruckus is raising again the old issue as to whether the postal service is a business which ought to be more or less self-sustaining or whether it is a service which government ought to provide at less than cost, using tax funds to make up the difference.

There has never been a clear determination of this issue, which has been debated for generations. And the result of the indecision is a messy hodge-podge of conflicting policies which make sense to almost nobody and grow more costly by the year.

The Hoover Commission discovered that the Post Office Department is a jerry-built structure held together by patchwork and bailing-wire. It is part-private buiness, part-public service, part-bureaucracy and all old-fashioned to the point of ludicrousness.

Let it be said that Mr. Summerfield has tried to go a good job and has made some important improvements in service and cost-control.

But the department needs a lot more than this. It needs a reorganization on the basis of the Hoover report with a clear definition by Congress as to whether it is to be a tax-supported service or a self-financing government business. And if the present controversy advances the day of that reorganization, we're all for it, no matter what happens about the $47 million.

Times Change

THE BRITISH government, looking military reality in the eye, has come to some rather startling conclusions about the British national defense policy. And perhaps the most startling of these conclusions is that, in a general atomic war, the British Isles could not be defended successfully.

But is this conclusion really so startling as it seems on first reading? We do not think so.

The visitor to Britain gets almost an immediate impression of what Winston Churchill meant when he spoke of "this tight little isle". And if he has in mind a picture of a map of Europe, he understands that the islands make a perfect atomic target. The defense has not yet been invented that would keep a determined attack from dropping some atomic bombs on so small a target. And it would not take many to do the job.

Britain, therefore, will concentrate its energies behind a deterrent policy, in which hydrogen bombs and ballistic rockets with hydrogen warheads will replace much of the traditional armament, including eventually both battleship sea forces and infantry armies.

Thus Britain is counting on preventing [illegible] by convincing the potential aggressor that he himself would be destroyed.

This strikes us as a perfectly plausible [illegible]. But we seem to recall that when John [illegible] Dulles a couple of years ago spoke of [illegible] of "massive retaliation" against an [illegible] the British among others professed to be horrified.

But then times change, don't they?

Merry-Go-Round–

Yarborough, Johnson Not Friends

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Big question-mark in the minds of senators, as newly elected Ralph Yarborough of Texas arrives to take the oath of office, is whether he will become part of the Lyndon Johnson team.

Yarborough is the man who gives the tall and charming Lyndon that continued crucial one-vote margin by which he can go on breathing as Senate majority leader. But the big question in the minds of Texans and senators is: Will Lyndon control that one vote?

Mr. Pearson

Lyndon has kept very hush-hush how he voted in the Texas election But it is not hush-hush that he didn't raise a finger to help elect the man who gave him that one-vote margin. Some signs, furthermore, point to the probability that he supported Yarborough's chief rival, Democratic Congressman Martin Dies. For, down at Laredo, where Mayor J. E. Martin, Jr., is the chief remaining Texas boss, Martin's machine announced for Dies. Martin makes few moves politically without checking with Lyndon.

Deal Recalled

Aside from this, Yarborough has had Lyndon's effective opposition for some time in Texas. And few men can be more effective than the astute majority leader of the Senate. When Yarborough was running for Governor of Texas last year against Sen. Price Daniel, Lyndon maneuvered a deal with Clyde Ellis, head of the Rural Electrification Co-ops and valiant battler for public power. Price Daniel would vote for the Niagara power bill in the Senate, he promised, if the REA men in Texas would support Daniel for Governor.

Sure enough, Daniel voted for the Niagara power bill, and the REA boys in Texas plugged for Daniel. Daniel finally nosed out Yarborough by a scant 3,547 votes, and that margin might have been the result of REA activity.

The new Senator from Texas knows this. So he owes no debt to his fellow Senator, Lyndon Johnson.

Yarborough's Knife-scars

Lyndon also waged a battle against liberal Democrats at the Fort Worth Democratic convention last fall, and caused a bitter rift in the party when his henchmen refused to seat several hundred loyalist Democrat delegates. Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston, Democratic national committeewoman, was among those who sat all day in a cow-barn with the entire Democratic delegation from Harris County (Houston), biggest in the state, and one of the few which went down the line for Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and 1956. Yet they were barred from the Democratic state convention because Lyndon Johnson didn't like them.

Instead, Johnson played ball with Governor Shivers, who twice worked hard for Eisenhower, and with Governor-elect Price Daniel, who in 1952 worked hard for Ike and in 1956 didn't work for anyone except himself.

These loyalist Democrats kicked around by Lyndon, were all Yarborough boosters. They are the people who got out and beat the bushes last week, and who, despite all the big oil money for Dies and Hutcheson, despite the opposition of practically all Texas newspapers, elected their man. So they'll be watching him when he comes to Washington — to see whether he is charmed by Lyndon

"Ralph Yarborough," said one of them, "has so many knife-scars in his back where Lyndon has patted him that he'll never fall for his charm."

The Texas loyalists should not, however, underestimate Lyndon. He has fought valiant battles on some issues. He has a shrewd capacity for picking able senators and wooing them. He recognized the ability of Sen. Hubert Humphrey (Minn.) and has partially wooed him into the Johnson camp. He recognized the abilities of Sen. Dick Neuberger of Oregon and has made him a sometime Lyndon satellite. Mike Mansfield of Montana has become a complete Lyndon satellite

So all the Senate will be watching the new Senator from Texas. And most of Texas will also be watching to see whether it has two senators or just one.

Crocodile Tears

When Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater voted against tax relief for small business the other day, certain crocodile tears last December were forgotten.

In a press release issued Dec. 21, 1956 Goldwater declared: "The major source of trouble for small business today is the inequitable tax structure."

On March 27, however, he voted against the eight per cent cut in the tax on small corporations

Hungarians Still Resist

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Eisenhower administration has decided that the United States is going to have no truck with a Hungarian puppet government run by telephone from Moscow.

It will not even give it the dignity of replacing the American Minister to Budapest, Edward T. Wailes, who is now back in the U. S. after spending a few months in the Hungarian capital during which he studiously refrained from presenting his credentials to the Kremlin-installed Kadar regime. No one will be sent in his stead.

Mr. Drummond

The purpose is to avoid giving even a semblance of support to a regime which is a Soviet colony, which is maintained in power only by the presence of Soviet tanks and which has the undying opposition of nearly the whole Hungarian people.

The best evidence is that the Kadar government continues to be regarded by the Hungarian workers, students and farmers with total revulsion and that it can never provide a transition to anything better for Hungary.

Regime Hopeless

The only visible hope of the Hungarian people is that at some point the regime may be unable to govern and be forced to yeild.

The situation is different from Poland and to give it the merest gesture of economic, political or diplomatic benefit would disserve the Hungarian people.

Thus far the Kremlin has been pressing the clamp down harder and harder.

The Red Army is still maintaining more than 100,000 occupation troops in Hungary, perhaps as many as 15 divisions, all mechanized.

Until recently there was a nest of Soviet tanks planted in the square in front of the Parliament building. Then one morning they weren't there and the Hungarians thought Moscow had decided that this force was no longer necessary until the tanks were found to have been moved only a block away, ill-concealed behind a fence surrounding a bomb crater — ready for instant summons.

Kadar has all the latitude of a robot riding in a kiddy-car tied to a tank. His office has three telephones connected by direct wire to the Kremlin. He knows when to answer — at once — and what to answer. He is allowed to say yes and sometimes on his own decide what time of day it is.

Kill Secret Police

AVH — the Hungarian Communist secret police whom the underground Hungarian revolutionaries are still managing to kill at the rate of one or two a week — is being disbanded by being given new uniforms and placed in command of a reorganized Hungarian Army about 40,000 strong. Its loyalty can be counted on by the Soviets as long as there are three times as many Soviet troops in the country.

The Hungarians hope that ultimately they can make the life of this stooge regime unbearable. They are certainly going to try.

The spirit of resistance burns beneath the surface — and not always beneath the surface. The Soviets are again acting to force Hungarian youth to learn the Russian language but there are still book-burnings — Russian language textbooks — within sight of the schools. The Voice of America is now offering English courses for Hungarian young people from the powerful radio station in Munich and the Kadar government is frantically trying to jam them.

Slow-downs Continue

Workers' slow-downs in every important segment of production continues. The workers are permitting factories to return to no more than 75 to 80 per cent of pre-revolution efficiency

Hungary is more than ever a deficit economy. The workers are prepared to keep it that way at great sacrifice to themselves since this is their most effective way of protesting against and harassing the hated Kadar regime.

They want no economic aid from the United States because they know that the Kadar government would be the principal beneficiary of such aid

What the American people can do is to support generously the organized relief efforts of CARE and the RED Cross. Although these greatly needed relief packages have to be distributed under official supervision no significant number can go to Kadar supporters since there are so few Kadar supporters in all Hungary.

Alleged Brutality of Troops Stirs France

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Premier Guy Mollet of France is facing new difficulties over the situation in Algeria.

The latest complication in a problem which has plagued France for more than two years is a charge that French troops are being "brutal" to the rebels.

Mr. McCann

Surprisingly, the charge has been made not only by newspapers, intellectuals and members of Parliament but by some army officers.

The clamor has hurt Mollet, who has held office longer than any preceding premier since the end of World War II.

There has been talk in Paris that, added to all his other troubles, the new Algerian issue might bring about his fall.

Form Committee

In an attempt to satisfy critics of the army, and at the same time to defend the army as a whole, Mollet and his cabinet have decided to set up a special committee to investigate brutality allegations and also to expose any false accusations against the French forces.

Mollet wants to hold free elections in Algeria, to give its people a considerable measure of home rule. But he insists that first the rebels must declare a cease-fire.

Robert Lacoste, Mollet's minister-resident in Algeria, is urging him to do nothing right now. Lacoste insists the rebels are on the run at last. He wants Mollet to give France's army of nearly 500,000 men in Algeria a chance to deliver a knockout blow.

The charge that the army is oppressing Algerians came as a surprise. The rebels have been making cruel and ruthless attacks on soldiers and civilians alike, Algerians as well as French, since Nov. 1, 1954.

Matching Tactics

The rebels have tortured, mutilated and murdered men, women and children in their attempt to end French rule.

Opponents of government policy now say French forces are matching rebel tactics to some extent.

The present uproar was started by Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, editor of the liberal weekly newspaper "Express." He charged in a series of articles that, during eight months' service in Algeria as a reserve officer, he personally witnessed brutalities.

Servan-Schreiber and others assert that French troops are beating up civilians, shooting unarmed men and torturing prisoners to extract information about the rebels

Mollet was already worried over the situation when it was made known that Gen. Paris de Bollardiere, commander of paratroops in eastern Algeria, had asked to be relieved of his command.

Backs Up Charges

Bollardiere then wrote a letter to Servan-Schreiber backing up his charges of army excesses. He called Servan-Schreiber's articles "highly commendable."

Bollardiere's action caused a sensation. The government accuses him of "indiscipline." Behind that is the feeling that a distinguished soldier, which Bollardiere is, should not intervene in what had become a political situation.

The French people as a whole do not like political generals. They have seen recurrent instances ever since the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-1871 in which political generals have caused trouble. And Bollardiere is not the only general who is showing interest in political questions now

Labor Leaders Scared By Effects of Probe

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTO (UP) — The Senate investigation of labor racketeering is beginning to throw a scare into the labor movement.

Labor leaders fear that the hearings involving Dave Beck and the Teamsters Union, and other unions yet to be heard from, may set off a fresh wave of anti-union feeling. The most feared result would be more state right-to-work laws and congressional demands for a national law outlawing the union shop and similar provisions in union contracts.

Mr. Lahr

Eighteen states now have these laws. Until the Indiana legislature passed one this year, they had been limited largely to southern and sparsely populated states competing for new industry.

Laws Were "Invited"

These laws were in a sense invited by a provision of the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act. That law outlawed the closed shop which required new employes to be union members before they were hired.

The Taft-Hartley did allow the union shop, in which new employes are required to join a union within 30 days after being hired.

But it also explicitly recognized the right of states to outlaw the union shop and all other forms of "union security" contracts — even those for unions subject to federal law. Eighteen states have accepted the invitation despite opposition from the labor movement.

Labor And The Law

The late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), who masterminded the Taft-Hartley law to enactment over President Truman's veto, accepted the right-to-work provision to keep southern Democratic votes in line.

Although the labor movement opposed this provision, it was much more concerned at the time about other parts of the bill. These included the closed shop ban, anti-strike injunctions, authorization for damage suits against unions, and the guarantee of freedom of speech for employers which labor feared could lead to intimidation.

In the last 10 years, labor has learned to live with what it once called a slave labor law. But it is no mood to accept tougher restrictions.

Denies Meeting 'Rigged'

To the Editor:

The Democratic Committee of the City of Monessen wishes to reply to a political advertisement titled "Bossism", which appeared in The Daily Independent on Wednesday, April 3.

We wish to take exception to certain charges which we feel were unjust to this Committee, in view of the following statement of facts:

The recent meeting of the Monessen Democratic Committee was not rigged in any way inasmuch as invitations were extended to all local candidates with the exception of those aspiring for the office of School Director.

All candidates who appeared before the Committee were given equal time and were asked to state their views, their reasons and their platform in connection with their respective candidacy

In all fairness, it must be stated that the candidate for Mayor who subscribed to the political advertisement being referred to, flatly told the Committee that he did not have a campaign platform at this time.

We also wish to recall that endorsements of various candidates by the Monessen Democratic Committee is nothing new, particularly before a primary, inasmuch as nomination to an office on the Democratic ticket in the City of Monessen has been tantamount to election.

This Committee takes particular exceptions to the charge that our recent meeting and subsequent endorsements were a political manuever by any political boss.

The Democratic Committee acted independently and without prejudice and feels that the action taken was in good faith and in the best interests of not only the Democratic Party but the City of Monessen as a whole.

William Rapsack, Jr.
Monessen Democratic Chairman

Local Clubwomen In Varied Activities

Mrs. Richard M. Bow, president of the Monessen Woman's Club, will present a program on Greensburg radio station WMBO on Wednesday morning at 10:45.

It will be under the sponsorship of the Westmoreland County Federation of Women's Clubs and will deal with the county department of which Mrs. Bow is the chairman, "Religion At Work".

This department is a newly created one and Mrs. Bow has been invited to explain the work set forth in the program.

Two Donations

Mrs. Bow is also planning to turn in two donations made by the local clubwomen, when she goes to Greensburg this week. She has a large assortment of magazines, cards and other such articles to be given to the Westmoreland County Home. The second donation includes a variety of used eyeglasses, frames and lens and these are to be turned in on the Federation program of "Eyes for the Needy".

Spring Bridge

Plans have been completed for the Spring Dessert Bridge being held by the club on Monday, April 22, at one o'clock at the Monongahela Valley Country Club. Invitations have been sent to all district clubwomen to attend. A sale of nomemade cookies will be held in conjunction with the party.

Mrs. Donald C. Duvall is the general chairman of the party and she is being assisted by a large committee. Mrs. R. E. Weddell and Ina Kline are in charge of tickets. Mrs. Harold Meybin and Mrs. L. E. Farquhar, cookies; Mrs. J. A. Hutchison and Mrs. Charles Williams, Jr., cards and tables at the Country Club.

Names Committees

Mrs. Bow has named two club committees to take part in special events. Named to represent the Woman's Club on the Post Prom committee were Mrs. Charles Williams, Jr., Mrs. Jay C. Schumm, Mrs. Charles Darby, Mrs. William Parkinson, Mrs. Nicholas Polkabla, Mrs. W. R. H Patterson, Mrs. Rip Menefee, Mrs. Albert D. Snyder and Mrs. Bow. They will attend a meeting on April 16 at which plans for the student affair will be advanced.

Also appointed was the auditing committee, which will include Mrs. Pierce Johnson, Mrs. Charles Darby and Mrs. J. C. Griffith.

The clubwomen are also planning to entertain the Senior girls of Monessen High School at the next meeting on May 8.

Painting by Local Artist Now on Display

A painting by Mrs. Charles Harvey, of Monessen, is one of a collection on display in a Charleroi store window, as part of a display of the work of Valley Art Club members purchased by the Charleroi patrons of art. Mrs. Harvey's painting was purchased after one of the Spring Exhibits held by the valley artists and is hung in a public building in Charleroi.

The display in the Charleroi window has been arranged to create interest in the Spring Art Exhibit to be sponsored by the Mon Valley Art Club in the Methodist Church of Donora. It will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 25, 26 and 27.

Many exhibitors have been attracted to the annual event and the show will be open to the general public on April 26 and 27 with no admission.

Monessen artists will have work in the showing and many Monessen patrons of art will be attending.

Artists must have their work in at the church between 7 and 9 on Tuesday evening, April 23, for arranging. On Thursday evening, April 25, the Jury Dinner will be held for exhibitors, members of the club and patrons. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Harvey, of Luce avenue.

On Friday and Saturday from 1 p. m. until 10 p. m. the showing will be open to the public.

Walter Reed Hovey, head of the Art Department at the University of Pittsburgh, will be senior judge and Jury Dinner speaker. Another judge will be the Rev. Lew Johnson, of Donora.

Trinity Women Will Attend Regional Meet

The members of the Women's Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church will be represented at the Monongahela Valley Regional Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Pittsburgh Diocese, which has been announced for Wednesday, April 24 at Trinity Episcopal Church of Washington where the Rev. Robert Muhl is pastor.

The meeting will begin with a service of Holy Communion in the morning with the Suffragan Bishop William S Thomas in charge. There will be an intermission for luncheon and an afternoon session.

A speaking program is being planned and there will also be workshop sessions.

The Guild members have invited all women of the church to attend this meeting and anyone interested is to contact the president, Mrs. Ray Lear.

Last year the Regional session was held in Monessen and attracted about 100 women.

Burma Talk Feature of Christian Fellowship Meet

A guest meeting held by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church on Friday evening was well attended by members of the church and women of other local and district churches.

Mrs. W. O. Beery, president, was in charge and the opening devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Raymond Purks.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a guest speaker, Angus Douple, associate professor of art at California State Teachers College. Mr. Douple and his wife and two sons traveled extensively in Southeast Asia a few years ago, while he was on a grant abroad and his program dealt principally with his experiences in Burma. It was titled "Burma — The Land of the Golden Pagodas". He showed colored slides taken in that country and described the people, their habits and religious lives. This work was in keeping with the missionary study made by the women during their Southeast Asia course.

Social Hour

A social hour followed the meeting and luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs G. A. Anderson, Mrs. W. O. Beery, Mrs. Clem Dauvin and Mrs. Clyde Sickles.

During the business session there were routine matters discussed and reports were given. Announcement was made of the Holy Week services planned by the church pastor, the Rev. Vernon Bowers, in which all the women were urged to take part. There will be special services on Wednesday and Friday evening of Holy Week and a Holy Communion service on Thursday evening.

Next month the meeting will be held the first Friday of the month instead of the second, the usual meeting date.

Reservations Due Tomorrow For County Federation Meet At Mountain View Hotel

Tomorrow is the deadline for area clubwomen to make reservations for the annual spring meeting of the Westmoreland County Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held on Thursday at the Mountain View Hotel, on Route 30 near Greensburg.

The Junior Women's Clubs of the County are acting as hostesses and club members are to make their reservations with their individual presidents so that they in turn can make reservations with the Lycippus Club, which has been named to have charge of reservations.

Mrs. William G. Hoehl, president of the County Federation, will preside and in charge of all arrangements is Mrs. C. W. Phares, third vice president at large. Mrs. Phares is junior representative of the county and she has announced that the theme for the meeting will be "Easter Bonnets". Various clubs of the county have been assigned to duties in order that all details will be taken care of by Junior Club members.

Speaking Program

An outstanding speaking program has been planned with Mrs. Lynn Hunter as one of the speakers. She is known to local and area club women since she has appeared as a guest speaker here and has been in attendance at meetings in the area.

Other speakers include Mrs. H. Everett Sanford, first vice president of the Southwest District of the Pennsylvania State Federation, who will speak on "Federation".

The day's activities are scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. and there will be a noon hour intermission for luncheon.

The musical portion of the program will be presented by Mary Kay Wilmes, a senior music major at Seton Hill.

The principal speaker of the day will be Dr. Dorothy Nash, a neurosurgeon on the staff of Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Decorating Will Be Theme for Junior Club Meet

An unusual program and one especially interesting to women will be presented to the members of the Junior Women's Club at a meeting tomorrow evening in Stern's Decorating Shop on Schoonmaker avenue. The speaker will be Betty Smith, interior decorator at Sterns.

Home decorations and their new trends will be the topic discussed and illustrated.

The meeting has been arranged by the education and welfare committee in charge with Mrs. Robert Schrag, chairman, assisted by Mrs Albert Kundrat, Dolores Curcio and Mrs. William Hughes.

Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas, Jr., president, will be in charge of the meeting and various reports will be given.

Juliana Carocci, Guy Vignoli Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carocci, of Perryopolis, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Juliana to Guy Vignoli. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Vignoli, of Crestview Drive, Monongahela.

Miss Carocci has selected Saturday, June 22, as the date for the nuptials.

LOCALS

Bernard J. Klasmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Klasmeyer, has been officially promoted from Seaman Apprentice to Seaman in the U. S. Navy. He enlisted in the service upon graduation from Monessen High School with the class of 1956 and at present is stationed at Bainbridge, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Pappas, and daughter, of Yorktown, Va., are visiting for two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kantsi and Mr. and Mrs. John Pappas, of Monessen. Angelo Pappas is serving with the U. S. Navy.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Thomas McKee Post 28 of the American Legion will sponsor another in a series of card parties this evening in the Post Home on Donner avenue and it will be open to the public.

Mrs. Helen Frediana, who underwent surgery at St. Francis Hospital, Pittsburgh, has returned to her home and is getting along nicely. She resides on Schoonmaker Ave.

Mrs. Paul Mancinelli, of Knox avenue, was a recnet Pittsburgh visitor. Her son, James, a student at Westminster College, who was home on spring vacation, has resumed his studies.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cook, of Monessen, have been called to Martinsburg, W. Va., by the death of Mrs. Cook's mother, the late Martha Jane Grove.

The weekly Lenten service at Trinity Episcopal Church will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock with the Rev. David Dillon, Jr., in charge.

The Democrat Women's Club will meet this evening in the Slovak Home for the regular April business session.

The Croatian Catholic Women's Guild will meet on Wednesday evening at the Croatian Hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Arthur Trilli, of Knox avenue, is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. His room number is 215.

The P. N. A. Ladies Auxiliary will meet on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the club rooms on Knox avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hick, of Reed avenue, spent a few days visiting relatives in Detroit, Mich.

Confraternity Of Holy Name Will Convene

The Confraternity of Christian Mothers of the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church will meet on Wednesday evening in the church hall immediately after Lenten services.

All members are asked to attend since plans will be made for various post-Lenten activities including a card party, which will be held in the church hall on April 28, Sunday evening. It will be open to the public and Mrs. Irene Kerestes will be general chairman assisted by a large committee.

Due to the Lenten season observance there will be no social hour.

STUDENT NURSE — Marie Komatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Komatz, of 22 Washington Drive, was capped as a student nurse in ceremonies held recently at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, Md. She is a graduate of Monessen High School.

Local People Attend Services In Pittsburgh

A group of members of Trinity Episcopal Church were in Pittsburgh on Saturday to attend the annual Corporate Communion services held for the women and men of the Pittsburgh Diocese.

The women attended services in Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall with the Rev. Austin Pardue, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Diocese as the celebrant assisted by a large number of Diocesan clergy. The Rev. David Dillon, Jr., priest-in-charge at Trinity Church, assisted at this service.

The women also had a communion breakfast with Princess Ileana, of Romania, as the speaker. There was a very large attendance of Diocesan women.

The men attended Holy Communion at Syria Mosque with Suffragan Bishop William S. Thomas as the celebrant. Bishop Thomas was also the speaker for the breakfast, when Bishop Lauriston Scaife was unable to get to Pittsburgh for his speaking committment. He was aboard a train that was rerouted due to a landslide in Aliquippa. The men's service was also well attended.

Mr., Mrs. Richard Radford Mark 40th Anniversary

A family dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, of Lincoln Ave., yesterday honored Mr. and Mrs. Richard Radford, Mrs. Johnston's parents.

The Radfords, who reside on Reed avenue, were observing the 40th anniversary of their marriage.

Since the 40th anniversary is known as the "ruby" anniversary the decorations were carried out in ruby red and white, with red roses as the motif. Centering the dinner table was a large anniversary cake topped with ruby red roses and flanked by tall lighted red and white tapers.

A turkey dinner was served and the guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Radfors, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and their son, David and daughter, Peggy and Mr. and Mrs. L. Richard Radford, and three children, of Whitehall, Pittsburgh.

Receive Call

The Radfords have one other son, Kenneth, who with his wife and family reside in San Rialto, Cal. They could not be present for the anniversary, but surprised the honored guests with a telephone call just as dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Radford have made their home in Monessen for many years and are active members of Trinity Episcopal Church. They started their anniversary observance by attending church there yesterday morning. Mr. Radford is employed at the Pittsburgh Steel Co. Monessen plant.

The Radfords have a daughter and two sons, and six grandsons and one granddaughter.

Movie Club Makes Tourney Plans

Although there's nothing for publication yet, the Monessen Movie Club has just about completed its four-team field for the holiday basketball tournament at the MHS gym next season. One of the probable entries is already being touted as a red-hot WPIAL prospect in 1957-58 . . . Tommy Qualters, the Philadelphia Phillies bonus pitcher from McKeesport, has been farmed out to Stuart, Fla. It's his second trip to the minors . . . At least three towering WPIAL cage prospects have drawn attention from both Pitt and Duquesne. They are Paul Lazor, 6-5, of Canonsburg; Bob Slobodnik, 6-9, of Har-Brack and Don Jones, 6-5, of Farrell.

A new award will be offered to a senior athlete at the annual Monessen High all-sports banquet on May 9. Set up in memory of the late Frank McKosky, the trophy will be donated by his widow, Mrs. Mary McKosky. As yet, school officials haven't determined the basis for the award. It will have to differ from the Weiss Trophy which goes annually to the all-around senior athlete at MHS . . . Lists Top Defensive Cage Coaches

In commenting on the WPIAL's domination of Pennsylvania basketball in recent years, McKeesport sports editor Merrill Granger figures a big reason is the stress placed on defense. He lists these three coaches as top WPIAL defensive strategists: Bud Laycock, Sharon; Neenie Campbell, of McKeesport; and Frank Janosik, of Monessen . . . Clyde Herman, a former Charleroi High football standout, competed in the AAU wrestling tournament at Waynesburg as a member of the Great Lakes Naval team. He lost a second round match . . . Stan Musial is hitting at a .450-plus clip during spring games for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sam Libbos, former basketball standout at West Newton High, has been added to the police force in his home town. Sam is also gaining stature as a cage official . . . Walter Talbert, a Donora High grad, will compete in the 100 yard dash and broad jump for the Pitt Panthers this season . . . South Catholic, big new school in South Hills, plans to have its sports program fully developed by 1959. The school will sponsor varsity teams next season with only a sophomore class . . . Clairton, Ford City and Midland are long-range picks to come up with "super" basketball teams next season.

Gridders Out for Track at Donora

No less than 14 football letter winners at Donora High are currently engaged in track. And that's no coincidence either. The track coach is John (Moon) Clark, who is also the football line boss. At Donora, they want their gridders fast. All tackle candidates are required to run the 220 yard dash during the track season even if it takes them a day or so to do it . . . Speaking of track, a straight 50 cent adult admission charge has been adopted for the Westmoreland County Meet at Latrobe on May 10. Sponsored by the County Coaches Association, the Meet usually takes in enough money to pay expenses, including $125 which goes for officials.

Underrated Players On Every Ball Club

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) —Gil McDougald, buried among such New York Yankee titans as Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, is touted as the most underrated member of the Bronx Bomber cast by a survey indicates today that there's one such on every club.

Unobtrusively he does a bangup job afield and wields a big clutch bat which delivered at a .311 pace last season.

But consider also scrappy Don Zimmer of the Brooklyn Dodgers. His courage and drive does much to put a spark to the Dodger fuse. A good man to have on the spot.

Jackie Collum of the Cubs doesn't get many raves either, but the little pitcher, who had a 6-2 mark last season, is a willing and able workhorse. Among the muscular Cincinnati Reds, you can't hardly locate little Rocky Bridges. Yet he plays every position in the infield except first base and Manager Birdie Tebbetts says almost confidentially that he'd trade "anybody on the club except him."

How About Covington

Mostly the pitchers get the raves around the Milwaukee Braves. But Wes Covington deserves kudos for a fine job when he gets the chance. And how about Wes Westrum of the Giants? No Berra at bat, but he is a brilliant receiver.

There's nothing spectacular about the Pirates' Dick Groat but the Buc shortstop is as steady as a rock and such a solid baseball man that he already is being mentioned as managerial timber when his playing days are over. And when you throw rocks at those Cardinal pitchers, take it easy on 40-year-old Murry Dickson. His knuckler has the hitters cussing.

Take Dick Williams of Baltimore. He does everything but pitch and Manager Paul Richards says he "could develop into the best one-man gang in the league."

Lepcio Has Strong Arm

Ted Lepcio has one of the strongest arms in baseball. There's no telling what he would do if given an all-out chance.

Rated a star, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox still doesn't get all the bows he deserves for this is the player—they say on the club—who carries the whole team. Cleveland's Al Smith is buried by the Tribe pitchers but he's the best player on the club and, according to Casey Stengel, one of the best in the league.

Detroit's Jack Phillips is another brilliant jack of all trades and master of most and yet not one fan in 20 realizes he crowds the .300 batting mark. Kansas City's Hector Lopez, who commutes between the infield and outfield, is a fine payoff hitter. And, for underrated players, how about Washington's Pete Runnels, who most managers agree should have been on the all-star team and wasn't?

Sure, McDougald should get more recognition. But he'll gladly settle for those annual World Series checks, which is a consolation the others rarely, if ever, have.

Schoolboy Tilts Are Postponed

"This is ridiculous".

So moaned Bellmar High baseball coach Bap Manzini today as his opening Section 17 game with Monessen was washed out by rain.

Manzini's disgruntled comment pretty much summed up the feeling of other valley coaches, too. They've been working with their boys for more than a month now, but the weather has prevented a single game.

"We usually have trouble with the weather," admitted Manzini. "But what's happening this year is ridiculous."

Today's Bellmar-Monessen game has been rescheduled for tomorrow. However it's doubtful whether Ninth Street Park will be dried by then.

Moreover the long-range forecast calls for some chilly temperatures the next couple of days.

Some News

Manzini did offer one bit of baseball news. He reported that both Bellmar-California games in the future have been moved up a day to April 10 and May 1, respectively.

At Monessen, the inexperienced Greyhounds seemed to be taking the continual postponements in stride. Nobody expects much of the Hounds this season anyway.

If and when the Bellmar-Monessen game is finally staged, either Dan Barton or Myron Sepitko, both juniors, will start on the mound for MHS. The Bellmar starter will probably be Fred Mollard.

The rest of the Cane lineup will show Steve Raymond at first, Rudy Houseman at second, Bill Gardner at short, Larry Rankin at third and Tom O'Toole behind the plate. In the outfield will be Larry Petras, Bucky Catrino and Bill Sowden.

MHS Starters

The Monessen starters figure to be Tom Churan at first, Dick DiBiaso at second, Sam Thorpe or Jim Baker at short; Jim Barker at third and John Kaminisky behind the plate.

The starting outfield looks like Carl Crawley — the team's only returning regular — Mike Kunsa and James Sepesky.

All other Section 17 games scheduled today have been postponed until tomorrow. Charleroi was to appear at California and Monongahela was to go to Donora.

'Sports Night' At Civic Center Thursday Night

The annual "Sports Night" program of the Monessen Recreation Department will take place Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Memorial Civic Center gym.

In charge of the program will be Recreation Director George Nicksich and Special Events Director Frederic Feldman.

Stephen Pfiester, chairman of the Recreation Board, will present awards to the basketball intramural champions.

Assisting in promotion of the "Sports Night" program will be Joe Leone, Robert Cina and George Bonari.

The winter season will end on Thursday, April 18, at the Civic Center. In the near future, Recreation Department officials will announce a spring and summer program.

Baker Gets to Third Round

Jim Baker, of Monessen, bowed out of the annual United States national squash racquet championship matches over the weekend in Pittsburgh after advancing to the third round.

Baker who has been playing squash less than a year, surprised everyone by winning his first two matches. He was eventually defeated by H. Von L. Meyer, of Concord, Mass., fourth seeded performer who made it as far as the semi-finals.

Junior WPIAL Meets Tomorrow

The Decisions Committee of the Junior WPIAL will hold its annual spring meeting tomorrow at the University of Pittsburgh.

Application for members and other business is on the agenda.

Election of officers will be another item of business. Dr. Gordon E. Dannells is the incumbent president and Albert Ferrara, of Donora, the vice-president.

Venturini Sets Bowling Record

Martha Venturini, of Masontown, has set a new world record, according to American Rubberband Duckpin Bowling Congress officials.

Venturini rolled a 1675 all-event total in recent ARDBC tournament competition in Uniontown. She rolled 582 in team competition; 483 in doubles and 610 in singles.

Riazzi MVP

DAYTON (UP)—Carmen Riazzi, Erie, Pa., captain-guard of the University of Dayton basketball team, has been named "most Valuable Senior" of the 1956-1957 squad.

Cards, Jays in Bowling Romps

Cardinals broomed the Robins and Bluejays swept over the Orioles in Eagle Ladies League bowling yesterday.

Scoring leaders were Mary Teska, 138-372; Ann Lombardo, 124-351; Betty Gedeon, 117-343; and Ruth Koget, 141-339.

Announce Plans For Marble Tourney

Plans for the city's ninth annual Marble Tournament were jointly announced today by Recreation Director George Nicksich and Veterans of Foreign Wars athletic officer Frederic Feldman.

As usual, the marble event will be co-sponsored by the Recreation Department, VFW Post 1190 and the Daily Independent.

Feldman, who has directed every marble show in the city, will be in charge again.

All boys between the ages of nine and 15 who are regularly enrolled in Monessen public or parochial schools are eligible to participate. That means boys who have NOT reached their 15th birthday by April 15 are eligible.

Once again, applications to the tournament will be received by home room teachers.

At Civic Center

Feldman said that all matches will take place in the Civic Center where an indoor ring will be set up. Tourney dates will be announced later.

The city champion will receive a trophy from the Daily Independent. The Monessen Sport Shop will award T-shirts to school winners while the VFW Post will award gold trophies to the winners at each school.

In addition, the city champions will compete in the district and regional playoffs for the state championship. The district tournament will be held early in May.

The state VFW champion will have an opportunity to compete in the national event at Seattle, Washington, on June 20-22 with all expenses paid.

Second in State

Last year a Monessen boy — Eugene Ninchak, of Holy Name School — almost made the national tournament. He finished a close second in the state-wide play at York, Pa.

Ninchak is too old to compete this year.

The marble show also provides boys with an opportunity to win all sorts of handsome prizes in the state and national events.

Former Monessen champions include James Pascarella, 1949; George Abraham, 1950; Don Pascarella, 1951; Carl Hupchick, 1952; James Baker, 1953-54; Charles Winfield, 1955; and Ninchak, 1956.

Gallatin Wins Soccer Crown

Gallatin clipped Van Voorhis, 3-1, at the losers field yesterday to win the 1957 Washington County Soccer League title.

By winning, Gallatin concluded its season undefeated.

Previously the two teams had battled to a pair of 1-1 deadlocks in the title series.

Harry Smith put Gallatin ahead in the second half with a seven yard header. J. McGinn deadlocked the score moments later when he connected on a penalty kick.

Smith retaliated with a close scrimmage goal and Tony Pascarella added a clincher.

A large crowd looked on as referee Nick Hlad banished four players — Tony Pascarella, Andy Kepchynski, Smith and Pete Lignelli.

Aspinwall Wins State Rifle Title

Aspinwall High School, representing the WPIAL, won the state rifle championship over the weekend at Penn State.

The champions fired a score of 97 out of 1.000 to edge Upper Darby and Bradford by one point.

Monessen Turners Win Cherry Blossom Event

Monessen USW To Field Another Baseball Team

Monessen USW will definitely field another baseball team this season!

Manager Ralph Nicksich made that statement today, thus ending rumors that the long-standing Mon Valley League entry had decided not to renew its franchise.

"I have just been assured by our union officials that we will have another team this season," said Nicksich.

The veteran manager said details for the upcoming season will be worked out in a few days. He has already invited all interested candidates to try out for the team.

Last year, Monessen made a strong bid in the National Baseball Congress tournament in Midland, advancing to the title round.

Lou Farkas Wins 1957 Archery Championship

Lou Farkas reigned again today as Charleroi Archery Club champion.

Farkas, who held the title in 1953, 1954 and 1955, won the 1957 crown yesterday by shooting an aggregate score of 782. He succeeded Gary Anderson, the 1956 kingpin.

In all, 65 shooters took part in the club championships.

Here are the winners in the respective divisions:

XA — Lou Farkas, 782; Bud William, 771; Mike Scripp, 738.

XB — Jim kolessar, 646; Sam Kent, 645; Lou Tatsch, 640.

Bowman — Roy Evans, 601; B. Barber, 573; D. Applegate, 561.

Archer — Joe Kostelansky, J. C. Bryner, 510; Steve Perok, 391. 391.

Novice — J. Anders, 381; Joe Grier, 314.

Junior A — Joe Kolessar, 732; Dave Frederick, 520.

Junior B — John Coulson, 337; Bob Sutch, 276.

Bob Thompson received a pin yesterday for shooting 35 yards or more.

Club officials also announced that they plan to organize a Ladies Auxiliary to interest the women in archery.

Successfully Defend Title in Volleyball at Washington, D. C.

Monessen Turners crack volleyball team won the coveted Cherry Blossom Festival tournament in Washington, D. C., over the weekend for the second year in a row.

The spiking tourney, staged by the Washington YMCA, attracted the top teams from the east and played to full houses.

To win the title, Coach Bud Giannini's Monessen boys had to stage a sensational rally against Woonsocket, R. I. in the championship round.

Monessen lost the first game by a lop-sided, 15-2 score. However the Turners came back strong with 15-11 and 15-9 decisions.

Giannini's men also scored tourney wins over Baltimore, Md., 16-14 and 15-10; Binghamton, N. Y., 8-15, 15-11 and 15-7; and Chester Sun Oil, 15-6 and 15-7.

Kachmarek Good

Len Kachmarek paced the Monessen boys on both offense and defense. He turned in one of his finest tournament performances.

Every member of the Monessen team received trophies for the great showing.

The Monessen squad included Giannini, Kachmarek, Bob Parsons, Bruno Krusl, Nick Sowko, Lefty Vlasic, Lou Kunka and Bill DiMascio.

Team Withdraws From Cage League

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Allen-Bradley team has withdrawn from the National Industrial Basketball League because it no longer was able to compete on even terms with other members of the league. During 10 seasons in the NIBL, Allen-Bradley finished last six times.

Stock Car Skids Into the Crowd

CRAWLEY, La. (UP) — A stock car driven by Gerald Jones, 25, of Houston, Tex., skidded from a racing strip into a group of parked cars Sunday, killing one person and injuring eight.

The victim was Mrs. Watson Bertramb, 18, who was seated in one of the parked cars.

The injured included her 21-year-old husband and Jones, both reported in fair condition at Elysian Hospital, and six other persons who were treated and released.

Ford Rallies to Win Masters Title

Shoots 66 on Final Round to Edge Out Pace-Setting Snead

By WILLIAM TUCKER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — Doug Ford, a golfer from the sidewalks of New York who saw his first green on the top of a pool table, broke the stranglehold today that the big-time tillists have held on the Masters tournament since Bobby Jones founded it in 1934.

The swarthy kid from 87th St. and Broadway picked up 87 hundred bucks Sunday for his first big win since he took the PGA title in 1955.

But more important than what it meant to Ford, his victory apparently signaled at last the coming-of-age for a new generation in big time golf. He decisively outstarred Sam Snead, who had won the Masters three times and played the first three days this year as if he owned it.

Old Guard Falters

Ben Hogan, a two-time winner and strong favorite, didn't even make the qualifying 40 when the field of 100 was cut after the second day. Neither did Cary Middlecoff, an early favorite.

Ford shot a final 66, touring the pressure - packed back nine in 32 for a total six under par, and when Snead, approaching 45, heard about that, he let youth take over. Ford is 10 years younger.

Sammy did settle down somewhat to score a par 72 and a 286 total. That put him three strokes behind Ford's 283, but was still good enough for second place. It was the third time that a 283 had been good enough to win the tournament for which the record is Ben Hogan's historic 274, 14 under, in 1953.

Demaret Finishes Third

Ford's important recent victories were in the Los Angeles and Panama Opens. They helped him amass more than $14,000 before the Masters as he played in all but two tournaments on the winter stretch. His victory here blasted the belief that a current low scorer who plays every tournament on the circuit cannot win the Masters against the likes of Snead and Hogan who aim for this tourney as a special target.

Ford didn't have to do as well as he did. Many in the gallery of more than 20,000 got their money's worth when he came out of a bunker on the 18th with a sand-flecked ball that bounced in the cup. It was a championship shot.

In third place behind Snead was Jimmy Demaret, only previous three-time Masters champion besides Sammy, with 287. Amateur Harvie Ward of San Francisco finished with an even par 288.

Cleveland Mat King Wins Fifth Straight Title

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Bill Kerslake of Cleveland, for five years king of the nation's amateur heavyweight wrestlers, thinks he is just reaching his peak.

"The prime for a wrestler seems to be in his late 20s or early 30s," said the grappler who this past weekend, at 27, won his fifth straight double triumph at the AAU wrestling championships.

Kersalke won his fifth straight AAU Greco-Roman title Saturday night with three straight pins in a total elapsed time of slightly more than 10 minutes.

He pinned three opponents and took two decisions to win his fifth straight AAU free-style heavyweight crown Friday night.

Kerslake was the only double winner in the four-day meet here at Waynesburg College.

Fastest Running

The fastest pinning in the Greco-Roman finals was turned in by Robert Steckle of the Kitchener, Ont., YMCA, the only champion not from the United States. He required but 11 seconds to down Lyman Blackmar of Catula, Ga., for the 191 pound title.

Two entries from the Ford A.C. of Dearborn took home Greco-Roman titles. Kahlil Taha copped the 160½ pound championship and the 147½ pound honors went to Frank Szecki.

Other champions were: Richard Wilson of Washington, Pa., representing Toledo University, 114½; Lee Allen, Multnomah A.C., Portland, Ore., 125½; Tom Hall, 3rd Army, 136½, and Barry Billington, UCLA, 174 pounds.

West, North in Bowling Wins

West won two games from the East and North took a pair from the South in Ball and Chain League bowling yesterday.

Top scorers among the men were Mike Adamio, 195-560; Pete Drusash, 219-558; Ray Echart, 179-511; and Coonell Ranallo, 188-486. The leading women scorers were Joyce McKeever, 158-387; Jean DeGregorio, 180-351; Jo Swansick, 121-343 and Martha Druash, 129-335.

Standings show West, 20 - 10; North, 18-12; East, 13-17; South, 9-21.

Palmer Blows Chance in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)— Arnold Palmer, youthful pro golfer from Latrobe, Pa., blew his chance for the Masters Golf crown by taking a six on the par three 16th hole at the Augusta National course Sunday.

Palmer ended up in a three-way tie for seventh place although he had been only a stroke behind leader Sam Snead at the start of the final round. He ended up with a final card of 73-73-69-76—291.

Skee Riegel, playing out of Villanova, Pa., wound up far back in the field with a 300 total.

Mascettas in Bowling Sweep

Mascettas blanked the Chuligs and Calderones swept over the Vlasics in Fence Shop League bowling last night.

Top scorers were Chuck Vlasic, 229-538; Bill Doyle, 183-458; John Tomasko, 162-410; and George Bobby, 201-485.

Final second half standings show Calderones, 34-11; Vlasics, 23-22; Mascettas, 22-23; and Chuligs, 11-34.

Denmark has one of the most highly-organized agricultural industries in the world.

Denies Detroit Will Lose Light Heavy Match

DETROIT (UP)— After working for more than a year to schedule Archie Moore's light heavyweight title fight in Detroit, Olympia Stadium promoter Nick Londes today angrily fired back at reports that the June 7 bout will be pulled out of Detroit.

"It's just windy speculation," Londes said in referring to the reports including one of a Boston promoter who offered Moore $50,000 to defend against German Hans Stretz in June at the Boston Gardens.

"There will be offers coming from promoters all over but we have Moore signed for June 7 and that's been filed with the National Boxing Assn. and the Michigan Athletic Commission."

The talk of moving the bout bloomed immediately after Harlem's Tony Anthony upset Detroiter Chuck Spieser Friday at the Olympia.

"Moore already has been signed to fight the winner of the Anthony-Spieser fight," Londes repeated. "That still goes. We see no reason at all to change our plans," he said.

Turners Assure Center's Title

Turners assured the second half title in the Center's City League on Saturday by sweeping over the Cro-Ams.

With just one week left in the race, the Turners now have an insurmountable four game lead.

In other matches, Elks broomed No. 3 Maintenance and Italian Hall swept Aquarium.

Scoring leaders were Ed Korskie, 242-584; Sam Lopresti, 185-492; Charles Guglar, 247-567; Leo Lewitsky, 190-483; Barney Fal, 190-494; John Zdilla, 199-524; Szabo, 193-550.

Standings show Turners, 32-10; Italian Hall, 28-14; Elks, 24-18; Cro-Ams, 24-18; No. 3 Maintenance, 13-29; Aquarium, 3-36.

Yankees Sweep In Fabric League

Yankees blanked the Giants in Fabric Bowling League action last night.

In other matches, the Senators won two from the Indians and the Dodgers earned a pair from the Pirates.

Leading scorers were Cy Troychak, 174-452; Phil Nuzzaci, 143-393; Spud Spadafore, 201-505; Dick Perry, 168-459; John Selbodnik, 207-517; and Tom Monack, 149-414.

Standings show Yankees, 39-9; Dodgers, 30-18; Pirates, 25 - 23; Giants, 22-26; Indians, 16-32; and Senators, 12-36.

College Cagers More Accurate Than Ever

NEW YORK (UP) — Field goal shooting in college basketball during the past season was the most accurate ever, and yet overall scoring underwent the most marked recession in the 65-year history of the sport.

How is this paradox explained? By the ever-increasing trend toward possession-style basketball. Guided by the successes of San Francisco's two-time (1955 and 1956) national champions and North Carolina's top-ranked Tar Heels this year, college teams held the ball for the best shots more than they ever had before.

Final official statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau showed that 4,113 major college games this season produced a average of 144 points per game, compared to the all-time high of 146.5 for 1956.

While scoring decreased, field goal and free throw shooting accuracy went up, and for the fifth straight season fewer fouls were committed.

Personal fouls averaged 36.5 per game for both teams involved, as against 37.7 a year ago. Field goal shooting went up to 38.2 per cent from last season's 37.5, and free throw accuracy to 67.3 from 66.8.

Fast-breaking Connecticut won team offensive honors with an average of 87.3 points per game, and Oklahoma A&M was the top major college defensive team for the 16th time in the past 21 seasons. The Aggies' yield of 54.6 points per game was the highest ever to win the honor.

Ohio University was runnerup in offense with 87.1 points per game. Morehead (Ky.) State, the previous season's team scoring champion, wound up fifth this year.

Only 24 teams averaged more than 80 points per game in 1956-57, compared to 33 the preceding

Law Goes Route As Pirates Beat Bosox

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates neared the end of their spring training today by taking on the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition game here.

The Bucs beat the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4, Sunday for their fourth straight exhibition victory and the seventh triumph out of their last eight starts.

Vernon Law gave up 11 hits but went the full nine innings for the Pirates. Pittsburgh also collected 11 hits. Alex Kellner started for the Athletics but was lifted in the fifth with the score tied 3-3. The Pirates went on to win against reliefer hurlers Lou Kretlow and Carl Duser.

Lee Walls put the Pirates ahead in the second inning with his first home run of the spring, but the A's came back in the third to score three runs on five hits.

In the fourth, Frank Thomas doubled for the Pirates. Bill Mazeroski singled him home and went on to second on the throw to home plate. Dick Groat singled to center to drive in Mazeroski and tie the game.

The Pirates went ahead in the sixth on a single, two wild pitches by Kretlow and another single, which scored a run. Gene Freese doubled home two runs in the seventh to put the Pirates safely ahead. The Athletics could add only a run in the ninth.

Ron Kline, Pirate pitcher who is sidelined with a pulled muscle behind his left knee, was to undergo another medical examination today. Kline, No. 2 pitcher on the Pirate staff, may be out of action for three weeks.

Pittsburgh was preparing to head north for their opener with the New York Giants at Pittsburgh April 16, but Buc general manager Joe Brown was dickering about next year's training plans. He indicated that the Pirates will pick up their two-year option here, if the city of Fort Myers carries through its promise to renovate the two playing fields.

Two Sweeps in Mixed Bowling

Rollos blanked the Mounds and Butterfingers swept over the Chunkies in Mr. and Mrs. Bowling.

Top scorers were Sam Havrilak, 171-452; John Bialous, 151-418; Sunday Faraci, 139-375; Art Popp, 154-338; Molly Bezuska, 146-330; Antoninette Faraci, 112-324.

Standings show Rollos, 10-20 Butterfingers, 9-3; Chunkies, 3-9; and Mounds, 3-0.

Rochester Meets Cleveland in Hockey Series

CLEVELAND (UP)—The Rochester Americans and the Cleveland Barons, who finished the regular season deadlocked for second place, clash here Tuesday night in the opening game of a best-of-seven series for the American Hockey League's coveted Calder Cup.

Cleveland recorded a 5-3 overtime win over Hershey Sunday to qualify for the playoff finale. Rochester had earlier swept past Providence, winning four of five semi-final games.

Cleveland entered Sunday's contest tied in games with Hershey, 3-3, and at the end of regulation play the score was tied 3-3. Goals by Bo Elik and Fred Glover in the overtime stanza provided the Barons' margin of victory after Dan McLellan's second - period goal had knotted the game 3-3.

After Tuesday's game, the Barons travel to Rochester on Wednesday. Play moves back to Cleveland on Saturday, and to Rochester on Sunday.

Tunkhannock Is Volleyball Champ

Tunkhannock High School won its first PIAA volleyball championship yesterday.

The new champion defeaed Homestead of theWPIAL, 15-8 and 15-12, in the title round at Penn State.

Tunkhannock thus succeeded Monessen as the state champion.

Rookie Sensation Tony Kubek Continues to Pace Yankees

By MILTON RICHMAN

Them that has gets meaning the talent-loaded Yankees apparently have struck another baseball gold mine in 20-year-old Tony Kubek.

Kubek isn't even on the Yankee roster but that little oversight will be taken care of within the next few days.

If there was any doubt about his status, the six-foot, three - inch outfielder thoroughly dispelled it Sunday with a two-out, 10th inning single that drove in the winning run in a 3-2 victory over the Red Sox.

Kubek's 10th inning single put a sad ending to the Red Sox exhibition season at Sarasota, Fla. Mike Higgins' crew have now dropped seven straight and they rank last among all 16 big league clubs in the Grapefruit Circuit with only six victories in 20 games.

Three For Colavito

Outfielder Rocky Colavito put on quite a show at Dallas when he rocketed three home runs over the wall to lead the Indians to an 8-7 decision over the Giants. His third homer of the day came in the ninth with one on off reliever John McCall. Al Smith also homered for Cleveland in a 15-hit assault on three Giant pitchers while Hank Sauer and Daryl Spencer connected for the losers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rolled to their fourth straight victory and seventh in their last eight games by beating the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4, at Fort Myers, Fla. Lee Walls homered for the Pirates, but it was Gene Freese's two-run double in the seventh that drove in the deciding runs. Vern Law went the route for Pittsburgh, allowing 11 hits.

Charley Maxwell smashed a three-run double and also singled to boost his spring batting average to .476 in pacing the Tigers to a 5-4 victory over the Phillies. The Phils threw a scare into the Tigers when Ted Kazanski hit a three-run homer in the ninth off Jim Bunning, but Bill Tuttle collared pinch hitter Frank Baumholtz' drive to end the game. Jim Hearn was the loser.

Milwaukee edged Brooklyn, 4-3, at Fort Worth, Tex., with the aid of a freak play in the ninth.

Homers Beat Senators

Elmer Valo's ninth inning single hit base runner Don Zimmer and prevented the tying and winning runs from crossing the plate.

Cincinnati used an old familiar weapon, the home run, to defeat Washington, 9-7, at Nashville, Tenn. The Redlegs wiped out a five-run deficit with two homers by Ed Bailey and one each by Don Hoak, Gus Bell and Frank Robinson.

The White Sox and Cardinals split a doubleheader at Savannah, Ga., St. Louis winning the opener, 13-10, and Chicago taking the five-inning nightcap, 2-0.

Walt Moryn drove in three runs with a single and a double to supply the big punch in the Cubs' 8-6 win over the Orioles at San Antonio, Tex.

Cartier Favored In Bout Tonight

NEW YORK, April 8 (UP) — Hard - punching Walter Cartier, the boxer-turned actor-turned boxer, is an 8-5 favorite to whip Jackie Labua of East Meadow, N. Y., tonight in his second comeback fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

The scheduled 10-round bout will be widely televised (DuMont), starting at 10 p.m. e.s.t.

Cartier was ranking middleweight three years ago when he retired to become a television performer. He has been trading puns, instead of punches, on a situation comedy series (Phil Silvers show) but recently decided to resume his fistic career.

Boston, St. Louis Still Deadlocked In Cage Series

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The St. Louis Hawks and the Boston Celtics were deadlocked today after two week ends and four games in their best of seven series for the National Basketball Association championship.

Boston's Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and their teammates squared matters at Kiel Auditorium here Sunday night with a 123-118 decision that disappointed a partisan crowd of 10,035 fans. It was the second Boston victory in the series and it came on the heels of St. Louis victory Saturday night, 100-98, via Bob Pettit's 30-foot jump shot with 44 seconds to play.

The teams split their two games here just as they did the two opening games a week previous in Boston. They will play game No. 5 in Boston Tuesday night and return here for the sixth on Thursday night.

Marlene Hagge Wins Golf Title

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UP)— The cream of the female golfing crop, including Babe Zaharias Open champion Marlene Bauer Hagge, move on to Dallas this week for the $7,500 Dallas Open Thursday.

Mrs. Hagge walked away with her second straight Zaharias Open title Sunday with a 72-78-72—222, four strokes better than her closest competitor, Betty Dodd, with a 226.

Fighting high winds and threatening skies, Mrs. Hagge pulled away from Ruth Jessen with only six extra putts over the final 18 holes for a one-under-par 72.

Miss Jessen, tied with Mrs. Hagge for the lead at 150 going into the final day, skied to 80 and finished at 240.

Betsy Rawls turned in a 71 to take a 228 and third place. Fay Crocker was fourth with 229, Miss Jessen fifth and Patty Berg and Joyce Ziske sixth with 231.

Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., repeated as amateur champion with a 241, followed by Joanne Bruni of Laredo, Tex., with a 252.

GOP Gets Protests On Budget

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson and other top Republican Party leaders will begin sounding out political thinking in the "grass roots" this week.

The purpose: To discover issues which could help the Republicans recapture control of Congress in 1958.

If sentiment elsewhere is anything like that in Simpson's own 17th Congressional District of Pennsylvania, national party officials will have to counter criticism by Republicans of President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget of almost 72 billion dollars.

Each day's mail brings Simpson new protests against the size of the budget and new demands for economy cuts. His office reports that no letter writer yet has had any kind word to say about the budget.

Plan Regional Rallies

Simpson is chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee. This group, together with the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee and the Republican National Committee, are co-sponsoring a series of regional party meetings in every section of the country.

The first will be in Omaha, Neb., next week end.

National party officials plan to let the state and local party leaders do most of the talking. The object is to get a state-by-state picture of the best GOP issues and Democratic weaknesses.

"We want suggestions and we're going to stick our necks out for as much constructive criticism as possible," a national committee aide said.

Simpson has been keeping up a barrage of criticism about the administration's big spending budget. He maintains it is "entirely out of line" and should be cut by Congress.

Here's a sample of the mail he has received from Pennsylvania constituents during the past 10 days:

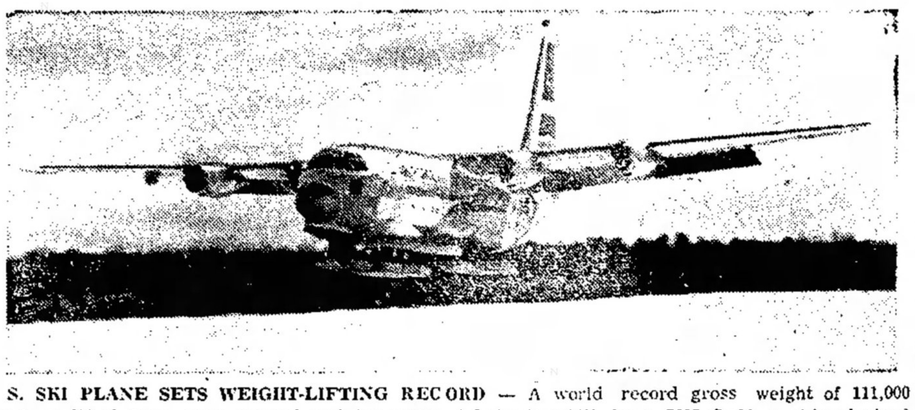
Cuts Without Damage

A letter-writer from Mount Union: "We think our party should lead in as much budget-cutting as can be done without damage and that foreign aid is a place where we are getting criticism that is hard to answer convincingly."

A man in Huntingdon told of my great disappointment in the President's change of attitude in regards to spending."

A woman in Waynesboro, who described herself as "an ardent supporter of President Eisenhower," commended Simpson for his budget stand.

A Waynesboro businessman called for "a halt to the wholesale madcap spending of the federal government."



U. S. SKI PLANE SETS WEIGHT-LIFTING RECORD — A world record gross weight of 111,000 pounds is lifted from snow-covered and ice-surfaced Lake Bemidji, by a SKI C-130, a ski-and-wheel version of the C-130 pro-jet propelled Hercules transport. The craft is equipped with the largest skis—19½ feet long by 5½ feet wide. They weigh 1,700 pounds. The plane took off from the 24-inch thick ice, covered by 12 inches of snow, in a run of 985 feet. It is designed to improve the mobility of U. S. armed forces in the Arctic and Antarctic.

Air Safety—

Travel by Air Is Safer Today Than it Has Ever Been Before

(Government and industry leaders agree that U. S. airlines today are faced with increasingly serious safety problems. The following dispatch is the first in a series of United Press reports on these problems and measures being taken to overcome them.)

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UP) — Air travel today is statistically safer than it has ever been before. Potentially, it is growing steadily more hazardous.

The supreme irony of the serious air safety problems now confronting the nation is that they stem largely from past achievements in making it safer to fly.

Twenty years ago, the scheduled airlines flew 10 million miles for every fatal accident.

In 1956, they flew 100 million miles for every fatal accident and carried 30 times more passengers—a 1,000 per cent improvement in safety. That is doubly impressive because it was achieved under the pressure of fantastic expansion.

Expansion Breeds Disaster

In that very expansion, however, lies the seed of potential disaster. The air age has grown too fast. The nation is now faced with an aerial traffic jam that will get worse before it gets better. Planes literally are flying too fast and too often for man to control their movement efficiently.

Airliners now operate in weather that 10 years ago would have grounded them. In effect, the airlines keep pumping more traffic into an antiquated system which had difficulty handling the traffic of only five years ago.

A modern commercial transport plane is the product of engineering genius, equipped with safety devices that turn what used to be emergencies into routine situations.

Yet this same plane must fly under a traffic control system 22 years old and into airports that are obsolete and inadequate.

In 1938, there were 345 commercial airliners flying 284 daily schedules in and out of 183 domestic airports—all under a traffic control system that was set up in 1935.

Today, there are 1,637 commercial airliners flying more than 3,000 daily schedules in and out of 549 airports—under what is basically the same system established in 1935.

Congestion Multiplies

The congestion problem would be serious enough if airports and airways had only the 1,600 commercial transports to handle. It reaches staggering proportions when you include the rest of the nation's airway users—42,000 military planes, 44,000 private planes and 19,000 aircraft used by business and industry.

One year ago, a special presidential commission warned that scheduled airliners were reporting four near-collisions daily. The Airline Pilots Association (ALPA), representing 11,000 schedule airline captains and co-pilots, recently told the United Press:

"Despite the shock that revelation caused and all the talk about correcting the situation, our pilots are STILL reporting an average of four near-misses daily, most of them occurring within five miles of airports."

The ALPA warning was buttressed only a few days ago by an official report from the Civil Aeronautics Board. CAB said it received 452 voluntary reports of near-collisions in the last four months of 1956.

Handmaiden to the traffic problem is the dismal condition of the nation's airports. Most pilots regard even the major terminals as outmoded, poorly-designed and in many cases potentially dangerous.

The present traffic control system has been known to virtually collapse under the strain of heavy traffic combined with bad weather.

On June 21, 1956—a day the airliners have dubbed "Black Thursday"—an estimated 100,000 passengers were subjected to lengthy delays or cancellations because bad weather in one large area caused a chain reaction of air traffic delays throughout the entire nation.

Fortunately, there were no crashes. But no one in the industry would like to say how many close calls took place.

(Next: What's being done about the air traffic problem.)

Hired One to 'Match'

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Everybody put a match to the fire that burned the mortgage at St. Luke's Episcopal Church Sunday night. Each member of the congregation lighted a kitchen match. Their combined light triggered an electric eye that closed a circuit on an electric hotplate that burned the mortgage.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Program Friday Evening

A special program was held Friday evening at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brightwell-Daugherty Post, American Legion, in observance of Pan-American Day.

Mrs. James Welch, Pan-American chairman, presented the study course on Honduras through a panel discussion with Mrs. George Roy, geography; Mrs. Jack Stockton, culture; Mrs. Harry Williamson, history; Mrs. Howard Opfar, economy and Mrs. Charles Yusko, flag.

Bellmar High School students presented a musical program, at which Henry Riley played a saxophone solo; Marty Pavits, clarinet solo. Both were accompanied by Mary Ann Frisky.

The third place winners in the Lions Club's recent 14E District amateur contest also played. The trumpet trio was composed of John Moleski, Barry Stofan and Kenneth Kenik. They were accompanied by Mary Jo Shephard.

Mrs. Joseph Williams conducted the business meeting. Reports were given by Mrs. John Tola, coupon chairman and Mrs. William Opfar, tea chairman.

Mrs. Tola reported that more than 3,000 coupons had already been sent to the state department to aid in purchasing materials to help retarded children.

Hostesses for the social hour that followed were Mrs. Tola, Mrs. Thomas Conway and Mrs. Yusko.

Firemen Discuss Radio System

Discussion of the new county-wide radio system featured the April meeting of the Fayette County Firemen's Association held at the Fayette City firehall Friday evening.

Some of the county's fire departments already are operating under the new system, including Fayette City. A complete installation is expected by July 1.

Peter Scolere, State Police fire marshal, was speaker. He introduced Peter Polick, who will serve as temporary fire marshal when Scolere leaves for Harrisburg in the near future.

End of Trail

WACO, Tex. (UP)—A 45-pound calf ran loose through a residential section for nearly an hour Sunday. He was finally lassoed on the old Chisholm Trail, now known as North 11th St.

Mrs. Mary Scroggs Honor Guest on 80th Birthday

Mrs. Mary Scroggs, for more than 25 years teacher of the J. O. C. class of the Methodist Sunday School in Fayette City, was honored at a dinner Friday evening.

The occasion was Mrs. Scroggs' 80th birthday and the party was arranged by Mrs. Viola Miller, class president.

Mrs. Scroggs is still active as the class teacher. The group meets monthly for a social hour and at this time the month's Sunday School lessons are reviewed.

Color scheme for the event was pink and white. The table was centered with an arrangement of pink and white flowers sent for the occasion by Mrs. Anna Pfleghardt Rehard, of West Lafayette, O. Mrs. Rehard is a former Fayette City resident.

Pink and white swan favors were at the places of Mrs. Matthew Curry, of Waynesburg; Mrs. F. O. Dewar, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. John Stimmell, Mrs. Oliver Cope, Mrs. John Bake, Mrs. Mary Belle Masten, Mrs. Aleana Parry, Mrs. Nell Jones, Mrs. Queen Wilson, Mrs. Blanche Hough, Mrs. Elizabeth Makepeace, Mrs. Oscar Paegart and Mrs. Clara Abbott.

In addition were Mrs. Joseph Jeffers, of West Elizabeth and Mrs. Harvey Schauffler, of Glassport, sisters of Mrs. Scroggs and three daughters, Frances Scroggs, Mrs. Clyde Wyatt and Mrs. Charles Humphries.

Dinner was served by women from the Woman's Society for Christian Service.

Mrs. Curry gave the invocation and Mrs. Wyatt read two poems that paid tribute to Mother. Mrs. Miller presented Mrs. Scroggs with a gift from the class.

Leader for Ban On Billboards

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader will ask the Legislature to ban billboards within 750 feet of roads on the new federal interstate highway system.

The governor predicted in a weekend statement a "very powerful opposition lobby" to the proposed legislation. But he called on citizens to "tell the Legislature that they want the bill passed."

"The Pennsylvania motorist has a right to see the beauties of the natural and improved landscape of his state," he said. "He has the right to the additional safety which will come from the elimination of billboards whose only purpose is to distract."

Dedication Service Held by Baptist Church on Friday

A dedication service was held Friday evening for the newly renovated basement of the First Baptist Church of Belle Vernon. The renovation includes new Sunday School rooms, social rooms, boiler room and a modern equipped kitchen.

Dinner was served at 5:30 p. m. to approximately 140 members and guests. The tables were appointed in a pink and green motif. Sprays of pink roses and green sweet peas with pink lace bows centered the tables. Tall pink tapers and smaller bouquets of the same flowers completed the decorations, all of which were made and arranged by Mrs. Naomi Gibson.

Garmon Longnecker, chairman of the board of trustees, was the toastmaster. He was introduced by Caesar Barney, a member of the board of deacons. Welcome was extended by Walter Pierotti, chairman of the board of deacons.

During the program, remarks were given by James Patterson, superintendent of the Sunday School; Mario Pesi, counsellor for the Young People's Baptist Training Union and Mrs. Garmon Longnecker, co-leader of the junior young people. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Anderson, accompanied by Mrs. Wesley Govier at the piano, sang "It Was For Me" and "I Want My Life to Tell"

Linda Hopkins gave a reading, "O Master Workman of the Race."

After he gave a recognition to the men and women who gave of their labor, time and talents in the renovation work, Longnecker offered the dedication prayer. The Rev. Mr. James C. Puz, church pastor, was speaker for the evening and spoke on "Life's Greatest Dedication." He stressed the fact that the individual who commits his life to the Lord and then dedicates it for faithful service has made the greatest dedication.

Mrs. Mike Shosky, Mrs. Joseph Keracik and Mrs. Aldo Bandini were in charge of the children who had their dinner served in another social room. Their tables were arranged by Mrs. Gibson, who made a minature zoo complete with trees, flowers, cages and animals. Completing the children's decorations was a tree formed of yellow painted branches on which small gaily colored birds reposed for the evening.

During the dedication service, Francis Barney and Warren Longnecker entertained the children with the showing of films. They also enjoyed singing and were accompanied by Raymond Kimball at the piano.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Pinasko, who died 14 years ago today, April 8, 1943.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband, Daughters, Sons and Grandchild

Today in Congress:

Quick Action Called For on Senate Bills

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) today warned that quick action is needed on school aid, civil rights and refugee bills to "avoid last minute legislating and the threat of filibustering."

He called on Senate leaders to push action on the measures, none of which have been placed yet before the Senate.

He pointed out that with Easter recess approaching Congress has completed almost half its present session.

Case noted that the "Senate committee which has jurisdiction over the school legislation has not yet held hearings on the bill and no hearings have been scheduled."

He said Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) had expressed hope that a vote might be taken on a civil rights bill before the Easter recess.

Case said Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) agreed with Knowland that debate on a civil rights measure should not come late in the session but that Johnson was "less definite" about calling it up immediately.

Other congressional news:

Civil Rights: Rep. Richard D. Bolling (D-Mo.) hoped to determine if a "deal" has been made to block President Eisenhower's Civil Rights bill. Bolling, a leading supporter of the bill, said he has heard rumors of such a "deal." He said he planned to ask the House Rules Committee to clear the measure for immediate action on the House floor.

Spending: Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) called for appointment of a special executive staff "with iron in its spine" to hold down the level of government employment. Davis, chairman of a House subcommittee investigating federal employment, said that "without this check rein on expansion, the Congress and the taxpayers are at the mercy of what will be an ever-expanding bureaucracy."

Schools: Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health education and welfare, said he believes Congress will pass a school construction bill this year. he said such a bill was needed to meet the "emergency situation" arising from classroom shortages.

Many Lose Lives in Series of Accidents On State Highways

By UNITED PRESS

Short trips brought death to several Pennsylvanians involved in highway accidents during the weekend.

Eight persons lost their lives only a few miles from their home. An aged Philadelphia woman was killed a few minutes after she left her home to attend church.

The fatalities:

Uniontown: Donald Ray Marietta, 20, Connellsville, died in Connellsville State Hospital Sunday night as the result of injuries suffered early Saturday when his automobile crashed into a tree in the city.

Quakertown: Charles C. Benson, 31, Quakertown machinist, was killed Saturday in a head on automobile collision on the Bethlehem Pike north of here. The driver of the other car, Heinz C. Lamparter, Quakertown, suffered head injuries and fractures of the ribs.

Greensburg: Edward A. Garland, 35, Greensburg, was killed Saturday when he lost control of his automobile on the Lincoln Highway, six miles east of here, and it crashed head on into a truck and then caromed into another car. The driver of the truck, Frank Patrick, 38, Johnstown, was treated at Latrobe Hospital for brush burns.

Tarentum: Albert McKee, 36, New Kensington, was killed Saturday when his automobile crashed into a pile of railroad ties on Schenley Road in Armstrong County. McKee, bottling superintendent of the Finch Distillery at Schenley, was returning from a farewell party for a fellow worker at the plant.

Beaver: Alfred Mattia, 36, Aliquippa steelworker, drowned Saturday in Hereford Manor Lake, a private fishing pond near Zelienople, when his automobile plunged from a parking lot into the water. Volunteer firemen recovered his body Sunday.

Port Royal: James N. Brantner, 51, Port Royal RD 1, Juniata County, was killed Saturday when he was thrown from his automobile which rammed a guard rail on Route 75, five miles west of Port Royal.

Philadelphia: Mrs. Anna Holstreit, 78, was killed Friday night when she was hit by a truck near her Philadelphia home as she was en route to Lenten services.

Coaldale: Carl R. Kershner, 32, New Ringgold, died Sunday in Coaldale State Hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Saturday night.

Three Inmates Escape from Rockview Prison

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (UP)—State police and Rockview state penitentiary guards searched the mountains surrounding the prison today for three inmates who escaped by scaling a 10-foot fence.

Warden Frank Johnston said a guard saw the men escape from the prison's north compound about 7 p.m. Sunday but the escapers fled into the darkness before he could sound an alarm.

The fugitives were:

Earl Fehr, 25, Philadelphia, who was serving a 5 to 10 year term for rape imposed in Bucks County.

William Richter, 35, Philadelphia, serving 8 to 20 years for burglary, receiving stolen goods and parole violation.

John Welty, 27, Easton, serving 6 to 12 years for burglary and larceny.

Just Un-canny!

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—R. S. Ellarson, wild life researcher for the University of Wisconsin, said today that eight years of study have convinced him that tree swallows don't like trees. They'd rather nest in tin cans, Ellarson said.

Your Health—

Easter Seals Took Her Out of Wheel Chair

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

I would like to tell you the story of little Clara Jo

Paralyzed from the waist down by a congenital spinal defect, the child faced a lifetime of helplessness in a wheel chair.

At the age of 2½, even after extensive surgery and the acquisition of braces, Clara Jo's own efforts to move resulted only in her inching along on the floor in sort of a swimming motion. Her hands were awkward and fumbling.

Today, at the age of 5, Clara Jo goes wherever she desires on her crutches.

She takes the bus to school. She keeps up with her own age group in class, has developed a lively interest in reading, drawing and music, and has become a contributing member of her family circle.

It was an Easter Seal rehabilitation center in her home town which made the difference.

At the center, a highly trained and skilled professional team took over her case. This team consisted of various medical specialists — physical, occupational and speech therapists and medical and psychiatric case workers.

The resources upon which this team could draw included a great variety of equipment such as parallel bars, climbing bars, steps, weighted doll buggy, a vast array of specialized toys, appliances and recreational advantages.

Within three months after Clara Jo's daily program was established at the center she walked. Then day by day, exercises were begun to build her shoulder muscles and to strengthen her trunk, arm and hand muscles.

Push-ups, the elephant walk, the wheelbarrow walk, crutch walking, roll-overs and parallel bars became part of her daily routine both at home and at the center. There was occupational therapy, too.

So Clara Jo wants to thank all of you for making this possible. Clara Jo was the 1956 Easter Seal Girl, emissary of the nation's crippled children.

The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults is asking again for your support to help them to help other children just as they — and you — helped Clara Jo. How about it?"

Question and Answer

Mrs. H. M. I have a blood clot on my leg which formed following an ulcer. How can it be dissolved?

Answer: The blood clot which formed will probably dissolve and absorb gradually. Application of heat may be of some help.

Dublin's Mayor Speaks at Fund Raising Dinner

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The United Jewish Federation reported today that a plea by Robert Briscoe, Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, Ireland, brought pledges of $1,286,000 from 650 persons for the federation's emergency rescue fund.

Speaking at a dinner opening a fund raising campaign here Sunday night Briscoe urged the audience to "never forget the loss of six million people under Nazism and to help remove Jews in danger from Egypt, Africa, and places behind the Iron Curtain."

Briscoe declared his efforts on behalf of the Jewish rescue fund had complete approval of the residents of Dublin, saying, "Respect for me and confidence in me would wane were I to refuse or withhold anything I can or could do."

"As long as their is a single member of our faith who seeks refuge, we must see that he finds refuge," Briscoe said.

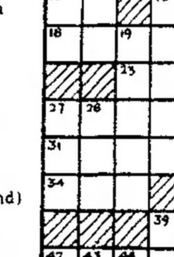
Disc Jockey Defends Rock 'n' Roll Jive

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—That peculiar art form known as rock 'n' roll will stomp into your living room next month.

It'll be ushered in by Alan Freed, a disk jockey who is largely responsible for the whirl the music has received over the past few years. It was Freed, now a deejay here, who latched onto the big beat in Cleveland back in 1951 and spun it to favor with the teen agers.



William Ewald

Freed, a jockey with a shouting style, will take over two evening half hours on ABC-TV this May 4 and 11.

"We're going to make them bing, bing, bing type shows," said Freed today. "My whole aim in bringing rock 'n' roll int the living room is to help offset the hue and cry raised against it. I want to show that it's a healthy music, a normal music."

Freed, father of four himself, bristles at charges that rock 'n' roll brings out the beast in teenagers.

"If there's one thing I am sure of," said Freed, "it's that the kids of today have taken afront at being labeled juvenile delinquents just because they listen to a certain type of music.

"Sure, there are kids who have caused disturbances at rock 'n' roll concerts and movies. But these are the kids who would be in trouble anyway. I call them 'bunnies.' And I find there aren't many bunnies around.

"We played the Brooklyn Paramount and I'd say about 100,000 kids attended our shows there. Of that number, about 20 bunnies had to be turned out. But they're the kids who get the headlines. Everybody forgets about the kids who just come to listen."

Freed, who'll use the Clovers, the Dell-Vikings and Screamin' Jay Hawkins in his first TV offering, sees nothing freakish about the big beat's popularity.

15 CHICAGO BOYS COULD GET ELECTRIC CHAIR — 15 boys aged 16 to 18 are shown in a double row at hearing in Chicago, where a coroner's jury recommended that they be held to the grand jury in the ball peen hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, 17, a Negro. "This is a cold-blooded murder," said Prosecutor Benjamin S. Adamawski in stating that he would seek death in the electric chair for all of them. "When they work in a gang, they are all equally guilty." Wielder of hammer was Joseph Schwartz, 17, fourth from left.

'New Drugs, Old Dangers' Is Comment by Medical Authority

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—The comment of an internationally recognized medical authority on the current craze to take-a-pill-and-feel-better is: "New drugs, old dangers."

Speaking in particular about the "happiness pills" and new drugs to relieve pain or to end insomnia, the technical journal, "The Lancet," editorialized:

"The chemical structure of many of these drugs raised suspicion that they may damage the blood - forming issues and the blood vessels, and evidence is accumulating to show that this suspicion is justified."

It granted that statistically the numbers of deaths and illnesses resulting from the new drugs were quite low compared to the amounts of the drugs which are being used throughout the Western world.

Substances Can Kill

"Nevertheless," it continued, "there is good reason to emphasize again that many of these substances can kill and that others may yet turn out to be potentially lethal."

It gave particular mention to phenylbutazone, chlorpromazine, meprobamate, and carbromal. The first is an anti - rheumatic, the next two are "tranquilizers," the fourth is a sedative. All are medically accepted as useful and potent drugs with the reservation that like any potent substance, they have an element of danger.

The names given are chemical or "generic" names. For instance, meprobamate is marketed both as "Miltown" and "Equanil." They are prescription drugs but carbromal is the active ingredient of many of the sleeping medicines sold "over-the-counter," without a prescription.

The "serious" reactions which it listed. The Lancet said "are admittedly rare, but when they do appear they strike suddenly and quick action is imperative.

"It cannot be said too forcibly that the drug must be stopped at the very first sign of a reaction. One patient who died had continued taking the drug for three weeks after the first purpuric rash had appeared.

"Since these drugs, and others like them, can do so much damage, they must always be used with caution. And it might reasonably be asked whether some of them should be given at all.

"On the other hand, as incidence of toxic changes is small, large and lengthy trials would be needed to prove that a new drug was invariably safe, and naturally manufacturers are anxious to bring forward their more promising new products without delay."

But regardless of how thorough the trials of manufacturers, it continued, the "surest safeguard" for the physician "is to look on every newcomer as potentially dangerous, and to be skeptical of confident statements to the contrary — for the first five years at any rate."

Eisenhowers in Washington After Weekend on Farm

WASHINGTON (UP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower rode back to the White House Sunday night from their Gettysburg, Pa., farm with their driver carefully heeding every traffic sign.

The President delayed leaving the farm until 6:15 p.m. e.s.t. in order to watch on television the completion of the Masters golf tournament at Augusta, Ga.

Before leaving the farm, the President got in a few practice shots on his private putting green. Eisenhower followed the tournament closely by TV and radio throughout the week end.

The President made the 83-mile return trip to Washington in two hours and 15 minutes. He returned via the regular route through Rockville, Md., where reporters were flagged down last week end for speeding while trying to keep up with the President's car.

That trip was made to Gettysburg in an hour and 45 minutes. Sunday, Eisenhower's driver was under posted speed limits all the way and didn't run any red lights.

Spain's Prelate, Pedro Segura, Dies at Age 76

MADRID, Spain (UP)— Pedro Cardinal Segura, Spain's most controversial prelate, died early today at the age of 76. He had warred alike on Protestants and politicians, but he died "forgiving everybody and asking forgiveness of everybody."

Segura's long and tumultuous clerical life was marked by open clashes with Generalissimo Francisco Franco whom he constantly snubbed, and by differences with other prelates of the Roman Catholice Church until he dropped from public life in 1954.

The Cardinal archbishop of Sevilla, had been suffering for months from a kidney ailment, but his heart and blood circulation system also were weakened. Death had been expected for the past 48 hours and he received the last sacraments on Saturday morning and took Communion Sunday.

Eden Beginning Medical Tests At Boston Clinic

BOSTON (UP)—Sir Anthony Eden began a series of medical tests today in a new attempt to heal the abdominal ailment which forced an end to his political career three months ago.

The former British prime minister arrived by plane Sunday from New Zealand. His post-retirement vacation there had been cut short by recurrence of fevers apparently caused by a digestive ailment for which he has twice undergone surgery.

The long-time crown prince of Britain's Conservative Party, now 69, slept throughout most of the last leg—from Vancouver, B.C.—of his 10,000 mile flight. A heavy tan belied his illness, but Eden, for many years the very model of a proper British diplomat, faltered slightly as he left his car at New England Baptist Hospital, and his attempted smile was weak.

Lahey Clinic surgeon Dr. Richard B. Cattell, who operated on Eden for a bile duct obstruction in June 1953, said his patient seemed "comfortable" and was "in no pain." He was ordered to bed immediately to rest for the medical tests.

Steel Production at Slowest Pace of Year

CLEVELAND (UP) — The nation's steel industry began the second quarter of 1957 with production at its slowest pace of the year, Steel Magazine reported today.

Production for the week ending Sunday showed output of steel for ingots and castings at 2.5 per cent of capacity, a decline of one-half point from the preceding week. Total yield was 2,367,528 tons.

The publication predicted that demand for steel the remainder of the year should be about in line with supply. Reasons for the leveling, the magazine said, were consumers reluctance to build unnecessarily large inventories and expansion of the industry's capacity.

Demands for foreign markets are helping to sustain the operating rate, Steel said. It said that some producers are exporting as much of their excess steel as possible.

Only a small flurry of buying is reported as present. The publication cited an expected midyear price increase as the reason.

Rates are expected to xjump $5 to $6 by July. The magazine said scheduled wage increases are adding to the pressure for the price upsurge.

First segments of the industry to feel the price hike will be makers of components — such as castings, stampings, gears, fasteners and electrical equipment. Steel estimated the wholesale price index for all commodities other than farm products and food will rise 3 per cent by year's end as a result of the steel rate boost.

The market outlook was reported good. The magazine said that future production rates within a couple of months will pull out of the present downward trend.

One Pittsburgh producer of hot and cold rolled carbon steel sheets reports that it has more tons of those products booked now for June delivery than it had a month ago for May delivery.

Steel also quoted Charles M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland, as having predicted an upswing. Republic, the metalworking weekly said, has booked more steel tonnage in the first 25 days of March than it did in the comparable period of last year.

The durable goods industry, which uses steel and other metals, has enough orders booked to maintain current high production rates through July, Steel said.
